UNRUH ASSEMBLY CALLS IT QUITS

Reagan Expected To Veto Labor's Bills After Republicans Boycott Extra Session

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Still defying Acting Gov. Hugh M. Burns' adjournment order, Democratic assemblymen headed home today after laying the base for a court battle pitting the Assembly against the Senate. (Other Legislature stories, page 20.)

The only thing certain after four days unparalleled in California legislative annals was that both houses were not meeting and Senate-Assembly relations were at a low, low ebb.

Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh continued to lay the blame for much of the conflict and confusion at the doorstep of Gov. Ronald Reagan, who was across the country trying to win the Republican presidential nomination.

Acting at the request of his Senate colleagues, Burns used his constitutional power as governor Saturday to adjourn the 1968 legislative session, despite Unruh's protests that important work remained.

Unruh then failed to round up 41 Democrats, a majority in the 80-seat house, to take some action and to recess — not adjourn — the session until Sept. 9, the same date the Senate will be back for a session required by law to consider bills vetoed by the governor.

Unruh then had the Democrats pass two pending bills increas-

Nixon Drive Speeds Into Home Stretch

Rockefeller Warns On A Loser

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon took his drive for the Republican presidential nomination down the home stretch today, his path eased with signs of buckling within the camps of favorite son candidates.

Brimming confidence, his lieutenants said Nixon did not plan to leave his hotel command post during the day. He was reported fixing his thoughts on a running mate. A top GOP official said he was convinced Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon would be the choice.

THIRD MAN

Nixon's chief challenger, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, and the third man in the race, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, went shopping for delegates with the fateful balloting some 12 hours away.

Rockefeller put an appeal for votes to 120 delegates and alternates from 13 western states and then tossed out the No. 1 pitch of anti-Nixon forces—that Nixon couldn't win in November.

"To pick a man who can't win would be a tragedy for the country," Rockefeller told newsmen.

Reagan, in a more relaxed criticism of the front-runner, said if Nixon went off to the Soviet Union before the election, as he said he might, he "would undercut the power" of President Johnson.

HOPE TO SLOW HIM

The Rockefeller and Reagan fortunes are pinned to keeping favorite son candidacies alive through the first couple of ballots. Their battle plans are to prevent an early Nixon victory, and hope that the tide for him would ebb on subsequent rounds.

The favorite son governor of Alaska, Walter J. Hickel, cut into these hopes by announcing at a Nixon-sponsored news conference that he was urging the state's 12 delegates to go for Nixon on the first ballot. Hickel said his own name might not even be placed in nomination.

In California, where all 86 delegates are lined up behind Reagan, some 25 would vote for Nixon "if they were turned loose freely," Hickel said.

Another 194 delegates were lined up behind favorite sons, 61 were uncommitted and two were for New York City's Mayor John V. Lindsay. Needed for victory: 667.

Reagan, meanwhile, pushed ahead with a campaign that put the accent on salesmanship and

DIRKSEN PREDICTS

Open Floor Fight For Second Spot?

By SEN. EVERETT DIRKSEN

There may very well be an open floor fight here at Miami Beach for the vice presidential spot on the ticket. If it occurs it will be the first time in 28 years that the delegates have been presented with a choice rather than a fait accompli.

The idea is being bandied about here in many quarters that several names, all agreeable to the presidential nominee, be submitted to the delegates, with the final decision left entirely to them.

At most previous conventions, and at each one since 1940, party leaders have caucused secretly to consider all possible candidates. Their final list was then submitted to the presidential nominee. He would express his preference and that would be the only name submitted to the convention for approval, generally by acclamation.

In 1940, three names were submitted and Sen. Charles McNary won the nomination overwhelmingly on the first ballot. If the open-choice policy is revived now the delegates could well have many more than three names offered in nomination. Under that circumstance, however, some of the more obvious candidates might not choose to run for fear of losing.

LIQUOR LICENSE OPPOSED

Belvedere Neighbors Battle Tennis Club

The long-simmering feud between the Belvedere Tennis Club and its neighbors in Hawthorne Terrace has once again erupted with the club's recent application for a liquor license.

More han 25 protests to the license application, mostly from Hawthorne Terrace residents, were received by the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board in Santa Rosa as of last Friday, the deadline for filing protests.

A public hearing on the application will be held withn 90 days at the Marin County Civic Center, according to Jack L. Chambers, ABC supervising special investigator. "We always hold a hearing on any protested application unless the applicant withdraws."

"We aren't going to withdraw," James Murray, tennis club president declared yesterday, adding that the club will appeal if the license application is denied.

The protestors argued that the club, located on Tiburon Boulevard near Rock Hill Road, is near two schools, a church, a public school playground and a residential area. A bar in the club would interfere with residents' normal use of their property, constitute a traffic hazard, violate the city's zoning ordinance and be a public nuisance, the protestors said, according to the ABC staff.

The protestors also argued that a bus stop, used by commuters and children, is located directly in front of the club and that there are six other businesses with liquor licenses within a two-mile area, the ABC staff said.

"This whole thing has gotten out of hand," Murray said. "These people don't even know what they're protesting."

The club is asking for a conditional license, he said, which places restrictions on the hours and times the club can serve liquor, he explained.

The club originally applied for a regular liquor license, he said, but amended its application on July 15 when Murray discovered the club could ask

MASSIVE FISH KILL

Pollution Of Marin Creeks Tied To Waste Chemicals

Miles of small, rambling Marin creeks have turned into a "big black slimy mess" which is causing a massive fish kill in the whole area, the California Department of Fish and Game reported today.

The department opened an investigation this morning and its findings will be turned over to the district attorney for possible court action against the Marin Municipal Water District.

The problem is in Phoenix Creek and Corte Madera Creek before it reaches the salt water portion.

In a preliminary investigation, Alfred F. Giddings, California State Fish and Game Warden, said the pollution is coming from the water district filtering plant above Phoenix Dam.

Normally, the backwash is dumped into Phoenix Lake or into holding ponds, William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, said. However, Phoenix Lake has been drained to make repairs to Phoenix Dam which was condemned about six years ago.

Giddings said backwash from the filter plant is being dumped into Phoenix Creek, running down it through Ross for about two miles and flowing into Corte Madera Creek near the Ross fire station.

The backwash includes suspended solids left after the water has been filtered, alum which is used for treating water, and possibly, chemicals which are used to clean the filters.

A resident of the area, however, believes there are two separate problems—one for each creek.

Michael P. Hansen of 17 Cedar Avenue, Kentfield, said he discovered a large pipe draining quantities of raw sewage into Corte Madera Creek. He said the pipe is behind an apartment building next to the Ross Town garage.

Hansen said other residents of the area did not appear to be very concerned, and indicated they are used to going along with "the autocratic water district."

The water district was unaware of the problem until this morning.

Seeger said the problem may have been caused by draining of Phoenix Lake which began this week. He said the water company had cleared the alternate method of drainage with the water pollution control board.

He said the lake is expected to be empty about a month.

Giddings said the water district will not be allowed to use the lake for disposal after it is completed. He noted $90,000 of fish and game department money is helping build the area for recreation.

He said the "badly polluted" water is also a health problem and warned, "this stuff is not going to wash out for a long time."

He said he believes the water company is going to have to do something with its disposings, perhaps trucking it somewhere or taking it out to sea.

Giddins said he planned to confer with Ross officials, the county sanitation department and other groups today while test samples are being gathered from the streams.

Bethlehem Halves Its Steel Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp. cut its recent price hikes almost in half today to remain competitive with U.S. Steel, which had announced new but more modest price increases earlier in the day.

Less than two hours after U.S. Steel, the nation's No. 1 producer, announced price raises on steels used in huge quantities by the auto and appliance industries, No. 2-ranked Bethlehem said it was chopping its prices.

Bethlehem said its general price increase of 5 per cent was being cut to 2.4 per cent on all its products. A spokesman said the cut was made "to be competitive with those of U.S. Steel."

The announcements appeared to indicate that the industry would not completely roll back its price hikes because of opposition by President Johnson, but was prepared to settle for smaller boosts.

Among the products that U.S. Steel boosted today was hot rolled sheet and strip and cold rolled sheets. These are used for making auto bodies and appliances, such as refrigerators and stoves.

The company also hiked prices on cold rolled strip, used for auto trim; hot rolled bars and industrial quality rods, used for machinery and in the construction industry; and other items used for construction.

Character Witnesses Spit On Shaw At Robles Trial

Leo Estrada Robles, a short-fused San Quentin killer, was to argue for his own life today before a jury which yesterday watched aghast as two of his six character witnesses spat upon Marin County's assistant district attorney.

The spitting on Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw came as 23-year-old Robles called his last witnesses in the penalty phase of the eight-week murder trial.

The first expectoration came from Edward D. Sanchez, a 19-year-old inmate of the isolation section of the psychiatric wing at the state Medical Facility at Vacaville.

Sanchez, serving time for two assaults, testifed in response to Robles' questions that he had seen prison guards mistreating Robles. Then he stepped from the stand, filed past the jurors to the prosecutor's table and spat.

" punk," he said, and walked from the courtroom, flanked by prison guards.

Shaw calmly wiped himself clean and requested that Judge Harold J. Haley recite, for the record, the action taken by Sanchez.

When Robles' last two witnesses stepped from the stand, they found Shaw had removed himself from his customary chair. This did not deter the last witness, Charles William Evans, serving time at Vacaville for second degree murder and assault with a deadly weapon.

After the jury and Robles' convict character witnesses had left the courtroom, Shaw asked Judge Haley to cite the spitters for contempt of court and levy heavy fines. The judge said he will consider the request.

"These men showed their utter contempt for these proceedings. If he could have, I think Mr. Evans would have done violence on Mr. Shaw. These incidents provide full justification for bringing these men into court in restraints," said Judge Haley.

Robles had protested earlier that it was prejudicial to his case to have his character witnesses brought to court in chains.

The killer, though he smiled after each expectoration, protested to the judge that he was not responsible for the actions of the convicts.

Ike Outlook 'Guarded;' Heart Attack Severe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors said today the heart attack suffered by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Tuesday was a major one equal in severity to Eisenhower's earlier major attacks. They said the outlook was "guarded," or unpredictable.

Doctors of Walter Reed Army Hospital said so in answer to questions submitted by newsmen.

But in a formal medical bulletin they said they were "satisfied with his current progress," and that he had spent a comfortable night.

In answer to questions, they said Eisenhower is receiving oxygen continuously as a treatment.

Eisenhower has suffered five earlier heart attacks, several of them including the last previous one on June 15 rated as major.

The doctors replied "negative" and "not pertinent" to questions whether they had considered a heart transplant for Eisenhower, and whether a person with his history of heart trouble would be an eligible candidate for a new heart.

As to the outlook in Eisenhower's case, the doctors' reply was: "The prognosis in the early days following any myocardial infarction is 'guarded.' The word 'guarded' means that in this early period after any heart attack, the outcome is unpredictable."

The medical men did not say when a prediction might be possible. To similar questions after Eisenhower's June 15 attack, they replied: "Generally the critical period extends through the first week" following the attack.

San Rafael Schools Budgets Adopted, Bringing Tax Hikes

The San Rafael Board of Education adopted last night a $4,732,902 elementary district budget requiring a 6.15-cent tax rate increase and a $4,636,560 high school district budget requiring a 16-cent tax rate increase.

The 1968-69 budget will require a $3.136 per $100 assessed valuation elementary tax rate and a $2.30 high school rate according to Supt. John F. Plank (Another San Rafael Board of Education story, page 8.)

The elementary budget total will be up 11 per cent, from $4,263,211, it was reported, while the high school total will be up 12 per cent from $4,087,869.

Plank estimated the elementary operating tax rate will climb .6 cent to $1.616 and the high school operating rate 10.8 cents to $2.058.

In addition to the operating rate, he said, the elementary total will include $1.10 for areawide equalization of property assessments and 42 cents for bond retirement, and the high school total will include 24.2 cents for bond retirement.

Board members emphasized in discussing the budget that special 10-cent levies in each district to finance repair or replacement of facilities not meeting state earthquake safety requirements accounted in large measure for the tax rate increase.

Plank told the board the budgets are based on estimated assessed valuation increases of 5 per cent in the elementary district and 6.5 per cent in the high school district, lower than in previous years.

Rather than levying higher taxes to make up for this, he said, approximately $200,000 in each district will be taken from unusually high beginning ballances carried over from last year, $604,122 in the elementary district and $420,485 in the high school district.

Property taxes will raise $2,651,465 in the elementary district, up $67,615, and $3,247,280 in the high school district, up $268,035, it was estimated.

Students Overcome By Chlorine Gas

FRESNO (UPI) — Several Fresno State College students were overcome yesterday afternoon when chlorine gas seeped into an air conditioning system in the science building.

One wing of the science building was evacuated and "two or three" students were stricken by fits of coughing. They were treated at the student health center and released.

National Jobless Rate Shows Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's jobless rate dropped one-tenth of 1 per cent in July, reflecting a normal summer season pattern, the Labor Department reported.

The department listed 3.2 million persons as unemployed. This is 400,000 jobless persons fewer than in June, when unemployment rose sharply as nearly three million young people entered the labor market with the close of schools.

The jobless rate, adjusted for seasonal variations, was 3.7 per cent for July compared to 3.8 per cent for June and 3.5 per cent for May and April.

Employment for teen-agers showed no improvement in July. The jobless rate held at 13.6 per cent.

Finch Jetting East Again; All Is Cool In Los Angeles

Finch flew to Los Angeles from Miami Beach, Fla., at the request of Gov. Ronald Reagan although Mayor Sam Yorty said "the situation doesn't need outside help." The mayor even tried to turn around Finch in flight.

After meeting for nine minutes late yesterday with Yorty and law enforcement officials, Finch said he was satisfied that no emergency existed.

"I'm gratified that the exaggerated reports we heard in the East were not true," Finch said.

His plans for a morning flight back to Miami Beach where he is a member of the California delegation committed to Reagan, gave Finch plenty of time before tonight's voting.

The abrupt visit of Finch, at Reagan's behest, angered Yorty.

To newsmen before Finch's arrival Yorty suggested the lieutenant governor and Reagan may have been feuding over California's Republican convention votes — hence his sudden departure from Miami. The mayor said Finch personally favors Nixon for the presidential nomination.

Finch told newsmen later: "I'd resign from the delegation if I wanted to come out for Nixon."

Meanwhile, the president of the Central Los Angeles National Association for the Advancement of Colored People called publicly for a young Negro sought by police since Monday's shooting to surrender.

"We do not want more people shot down in the streets," Celes King said, "because we know, if it happens, it'll be black people who will be shot down."

He urged Anthony R. Bartholomew, 19, reported armed with a 9-mm. pistol, to surrender. The youth has been sought since the gunfight in which three Negro men were shot dead and two white policemen were wounded.

Harriman Says U.S. To Free 14 Red Sailors

PARIS (AP) —The United States told North Vietnam at the Paris peace talks today that 14 captured North Vietnamese seamen will be released. Last week three U.S. fliers, released by the North Vietnamese, came out of Hanoi.

The North Vietnamese handled their release of the airmen mainly through the peace talks and the United States responded using the same channel with an obvious interest in tying the goodwill gestures into the search for peace.

16TH SESSION

The peace probes themselves were conducted in today's meeting— the 16th session.

Ambassador Ha Van Lau of North Vietnam spurned a recent demand by Secretary of State Dean Rusk for some authoritative word from Hanoi on how North Vietnam would respond to a total halt in the U.S. bombing.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, going into the conference, said North Vietnam had infiltrated 30,000 troops into the South in July and failed to show any of the restraint asked by President Johnson.

Harriman said the release of the seamen was a gesture of goodwill and not an act of reciprocity for the freeing of the pilots. He did not explain why he sought to separate the two actions when an American response had been expected since North Vietnam announced the fliers would be freed.

He said the release of additional pilots would be most welcome, especially those who had been injured and those who had been held for a long time.

The 14 North Vietnamese have been held captive since 1966. Harriman said they had been captured when attempting to attack U.S. naval vessels. The group originally totaled 19 but five were released previously.

SHIFT IN DEMANDS?

Harriman was asked by newsmen if he could detect any change in North Vietnam's attitude because the Republican National Convention is now under way in the United States.

"That question didn't come up," he said.

Harriman was probing to find out whether North Vietnam would give any indication to him that the lower level of combat in the South in the last several weeks was deliberately ordered on the Communist side as a restraint in military operations.

After the meeting ended there was no immediate evidence that Lau had given any such indication. U.S. officials say they have never been able to get even a hint of significance from North Vietnam.

BOMBING ISSUE

Harriman told Lau the United States had been ready for months to stop all bombing of the North "but you tried to portray us as unwilling to discuss cessations of bombing ... as changing our postion."

"The answer to the President's appeal which we have heard thus far in Paris," Harriman said, "and the signs we have seen on the ground in Vietnam—have given the President no basis to take the additional risk that a complete bombing cessation would entail."

Abernathy Leads '51st State Of Hunger' Into GOP Convention

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A creaking covered wagon hauled by two black mules and escorted by more than 70 denim-clad Negroes dripping with perspiration stopped yesterday at the door of the Fontainebleau Hotel.

The Poor People's Campaign contingent, led by the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, picked this symbol of opulence along the Florida Gold Coast to launch efforts for a hearing by the Republican National Convention.

Abernathy led the group inside the gold-leafed, marble lobby where the chanting demonstrators confronted confused convention delegates and worried hotel staff members.

One of the chants went: "I may not stay in a hotel, but I am somebody—may not be a candidate, but I am somebody — I am a child of God."

Then, after a traffic-snarling march of more than a mile, the demonstrators arrived at Convention Hall. Abernathy obtained tickets to take his self-proclaimed "51st State of Hunger" past the fences and cordons of police.

About 50 of the demonstrators sat quietly in the hall and listened as Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois presented the party platform.

Outside the hall, about 1,000 aging residents of the Miami Beach retirement neighborhoods carried signs reading: "GOP—Don't Forget Your Parents" and "Social Security No Longer Offers Us Security."

But it was the lone wagon that attracted attention outside.

"The purpose of this is to call attention of the Republican convention to the plight of the poor," said Abernathy, speaking from the seat of the wagon. "We want to put an end to hunger in this country and also to end unemployment. We want a guaranteed income.

"We are demanding housing even better than is provided under the new housing bill which we helped to write. We want to put an end to racism and an end to segregation in schools," he said.

After Abernathy's followers were given tickets to the convention, Abernathy said he wanted to address the delegates. That request was not answered.

Newton Trial Defense Hits Police Story

OAKLAND (AP) — The policeman wounded in the shootout that killed fellow officer John Frey was called back on the stand today in the Huey Newton murder trial, under heavy attack by defense attorney Charles Garry.

Officer Herbert Heanes, 25, cool and deliberate, testified yesterday that the Black Panther leader started the shooting Oct. 28. Frequently he asked to have questions repeated as Garry sought to impeach him as a witness.

INTERVIEW TRY

Garry brought out that he tried to arrange an interview with Heanes last fall after Newton, 26, founder of the Black Panthers, was charged with murder.

Newton was shot in the stomach in the gun fight.

In his cross-questioning, Garry brought out that Heanes had refused to talk to him, saying he would answer questions on the witness stand. Garry said Heanes had talked freely to prosecutor Lowell Jensen. He asked Heanes why. Heanes replied that Jensen is the assistant district attorney.

"You're taking sides," said Garry. "I would like to remind you that you are representing not only law enforcement but the people you're protecting."

KNEW OF PANTHERS

Earlier, Garry had cross-questioned Heanes on his account of the shooting.

He elicited testimony that Heanes already knew a Black Panther car was involved when he was summoned to back up Frey. Frey had radioed that he was about to stop the car at Seventh and Willow streets.

Heanes said he arrived to find Frey's car parked behind a Volkswagen, with Frey talking to two men seated in the VW. Heanes said he parked his car behind Frey's and met Frey at Frey's car when the officer came back to call on the radio.

Heanes said he went forward and asked for identification. "My name is Huey Newton," he said the man replied.

Garry later brought out that Heanes already knew it was Newton because he had seen his picture in the police station.

Heanes said he asked Newton to step out of the vehicle. Then Frey came up and told Newton he was under arrest and told him to get out.

Heanes testified Newton did, started walking to the rear with Frey but suddenly wheeled and started shooting.

Under cross - questioning Heanes said he could not recall ever actually seeing a gun in Newton's hand.

Food Cost To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail food prices are expected to average 3.5 per cent higher this year over last, the Department of Agriculture said today.

The gain in 1967 from a year earlier averaged less than 1 per cent, the department said in a report on the national food situation.

Food prices appear to be leveling off a bit, with increases for the last three months of 1968 estimated to be smaller than those earlier in the year, the department said.

The price of food for home use this year is expected to average 3 per cent higher than in 1967, while food consumed away from home will average about 5 per cent higher.

Filipino Says Hanoi Admits Role In War

MANILA (AP) — Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam has admitted that North Vietnamese troops are fighting alongside the Viet Cong in South Vietnam, a Philippine weekly magazine reports.

The Graphic said the premier made the statement in an interview with the magazine's assistant publisher, J. Antonio Araneta Jr., and his wife.

If true, the admission would be the first public acknowledgement by a North Vietnamese official that troops from the North are operating in the South. The U.S. government believes that such an admission by North Vietnam might provide the basis for a discussion at the Paris peace talks of ways to get the North Vietnamese out of the South.

Araneta reported that he asked Pham: "Your government, in public statements, refuses to admit that you are actually helping the National Liberation Front in the South by sending troops and war materials? Why do you deny it?"

He said that Pham replied, with "a puzzled expression," "We do not deny that. We are indeed helping the NLF in every way we can—including the sending of our own troops.

"Since the U.S. invades our fatherland in the South and attacks the North, why should we renounce our right to defend our entire fatherland from every corner of our sacred territory?"

Araneta said in Manila today that he was surprised Dong made the statement and later confirmed it with North Vietnamese press officials.

The magazine quoted Dong as saying that the Americans could establish good relations with North Vietnam if they "simply withdraw their forces from South Vietnam and allow the Vietnamese people to settle their own affairs."

He said the North Vietnamese entertain "a high respect and love for the South Vietnamese."

"They have been fighting for 25 years continuously," he said. "People like them cannot be coerced by anybody. When we decide to reunify, we will do it through peaceful means on a democratic basis. How we will do it we don't know."

Dong added that the United States would never dare to use atomic weapons against any country in Southeast Asia because "it would mean suicide...Similar weapons would be used against them," the writer said.

Police Shot Breaking Up Negro Crowd

Scores of state, county and local police brought order to the troubled area shortly after the initial outburst. Authorities said the morning hours passed without incident.

The injured policemen, all white persons, were admitted to hospitals and reported in good condition.

Mayor James Haines of Harvey imposed a curfew until dawn in the south suburban Chicago community which has grown increasingly tense since a police officer shot a fleeing Negro youth June 30.

Haines, who is white, said five police officers were wounded from a single shotgun blast as they dispersed a crowd of 75 to 100 Negro youths who were throwing rocks at passing cars and shouting expletives.

He blamed the disorder, which started lase last night, on the oppressive heat. "On evenings like this it's more comfortable to stand on a street corner," he said.

The disturbance centered in a four-block-square area near the borderline of Harvey and Dixmoor, suburbs 17 miles south of downtown Chicago with a population of 35,000.

The mayor said the Negro youths massed at a car wash and became abusive. Police moved in and ordered the youths to scatter. They remained in the general area for a time and several shots were fired.

Fourteen persons were arrested, two on charges of mob action and 12 for violation of a curfew that was imposed at 1:30 a.m. Police said those arrested ranged in age from 18 to 22.

Genes Defect Might Affect More Men

BARHARBOR, Maine (AP) — New studies indicate that a genetic defect linked to crime and violence may be upwards of six times more common than previously thought.

Instead of affecting one man in 2,000, the abnormality may be present in one out of every 300, three prominent geneticists said yesterday.

The defect involves the make-up of a man's chromosomes, 46 groupings of the genes which are the means for transmitting heredity. Normal women have sex chromosomes designated XX while normal men have sex chromosomes designated XY.

Men with the defect discussed at the seminar have an extra Y element in their sex chromosomes, which are designated XYY.

The XYY condition gained worldwide attention recently when Daniel Hugon, a French stable hand accused of murdering a prostitute, was found to have XYY chromosomes. His lawyers contended he was not responsible for his actions because of his genetic makeup.

There also has been speculation that Richard Speck, convicted of killing eight Chicago nurses, is XYY, but his case still is before the courts and the role of an XYY condition is not clear.

Men with the XYY condition characteristically are excessively tall, often six inches above normal. Many are dull mentally and often have acne. Their behavior varies from passivity to extreme aggressiveness.

The three geneticists — Dr. Park S. Gerald of Harvard Medical School, Dr. Malcolm Ferguson-Smith of Glasgow University and Dr. William J. Young of the University of Vermont — spoke at a conference being conducted at the Jackson Laboratory by Johns Hopkins University with March of Dimes support.

Allies Increase Kill Ratio In Rare Actions In Delta

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S.-South Vietnamese task force invaded a major Viet Cong supply depot and killed 219 enemy soldiers in a week of clashes that took American infantrymen deeper into the Mekong Delta than ever before, military spokesmen announced today.

South Vietnamese military headquarters said there were no allied fatalities and only six U.S. infantrymen and three South Vietnamese marines were wounded. A spokesman attributed the unusual kill ratio to American helicopter gunships and artillery, which were credited with killing most of the claimed enemy dead.

The fighting swirled in and out of three provinces centered about 125 miles southwest of Saigon on the fringes of the U Minh forest, a Viet Cong sanctuary virtually untouched by government troops for more than 20 years.

Armored troop carriers from the U.S. Navy's Riverine Force moved up and down the rivers and canals with gunboat escorts, carrying more than 1,000 American infantrymen from the 9th Division and 500 South Vietnamese marines into action.

At the other end of South Vietnam, U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 75 North Vietnamese troops in clashes yesterday south of Da Nang, an area of intensified fighting in the past two weeks. Allied losses included one Marine and 10 South Vietnamese killed, 14 South Vietnamese and 22 Marines wounded, and two South Vietnamese missing.

$97.5 Million For City Schools

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A record budget of $97.5 million — $15 million more than last year — was approved by the Board of Education last night.

The largest expenditure is $57.4 million for teachers' salaries, $8.2 more than last year.

The budget includes $298,000 for the free lunch program, compared with $78,000 appropriated last year.

Alioto Views Use On Alcatraz Visit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)Mayor Joseph L. Alioto and three supervisors made tours yesterday to decide the use the city might make of the federally abandoned former prison island, Alcatraz.

Accompanying the supervisors was Thomas Scott of the General Services Administration, which declared the island surplus after the prison was closed.

Scott said the sale price to the city would depend on several factors, such as the use.

SEN. EVERETT M. DIRKSEN
Gives oratory lesson

Dirksen Has Delegates Cheering

By SAUL PETT

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — John Wayne, the elder statesman, gave way to Everett McKinley Dirksen, the old prairie actor, and the Republican National Convention came alive last night.

Rising up from the tundra of tedium and the rhetoric of rigor mortis, it was Dirksen, United States senator, Senate GOP leader, Convention Platform Committee chairman, marigold musketeer, recording star, (Independent-Journal columnist) and Pekin's peerless apostle of the new politics of the age of Elizabeth I, who gave the delegates their first incisive lesson in the arts of election, execution and electrification (rural).

FIRST JOKE

They began by giving him a roaring hand and he began by saying, "I accept the nomination." It was the first joke to emanate from this year's podium. Theater critics, allegedly Democrats, predicted it would not be the last.

He held up nine pounds of speech texts.

"If you'll be quiet for 45 minutes," said Everett McKinley Dirksen, the beguiling negotiator, "I'll throw these speeches anywhere you want me to throw them."

THREW THEM AWAY

And then he did, nine pounds of speeches, right over the speaker's platform, into the hearts of the peasants. While it was not precisely clear whose speeches had been jettisoned, it was obvious Dirksen still had his.

Now the delegates were quiet and the Pekin Pericles, rising slowly from the Armageddon tones of his basso profundo, began. "In Philadelphia 181 years ago, far-seeing men fashioned us a revolutionary new government. . . ."

GREAT SOCIETY!

"Oh, how cynical, how mocking that political slogan! . . . Never has an undeclared war embroiled America so long. . . .

"Great Society indeed! . . . It is not a New Deal or a Fair Deal. It's just a straight-out Misdeal.

Body swaying, finger pointing out and down as if he were anointing the delegates in holy water, Everett McKinley Dirksen, lay preachers, quoted Abe Lincoln, Oliver Cromwell, Ben Franklin, got the delegates up on their feet and repeating after him, "One nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all," and, with lofty tolerance, finally allowed them to subside back into their seats, fully sated with their first red meat although they never did learn which speeches were thrown away, if any.

A Roaring Platform Approval

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Republicans roared approval early today of a platform pledging a new national leadership—under the GOP—will push "for a just peace in the world, for dependable progress for all our people, and for a new serenity and unity in this land."

With these words Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, performing as actor, orator and chairman of the platform-writing committee, won a final shout of endorsement after two hours of speeches at the national convention.

CANDIDATES HAPPY

The leading presidential candidates—Richard M. Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan—already had bestowed their blessing on the manifesto which calls for peace without surrender and de-Americanization of the war in Vietnam and a crusade against crime and causes of social ills at home.

Michigan's Gov. George Romney took the podium to declare he had wanted a plank against excessive economic power in the hands of business and labor groups. But he then urged adoption without change of this "excellent platform" for the sake of avoiding a floor battle.

CHANCE AVOIDED

Later, just at the end of the night session, a Kinston, N.C., delegate, R. T. Hood Jr., pushed toward the rostrum with an undisclosed amendment. Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, the convention chairman, ruled Hood had taken the floor too late to offer his plank. Hood would not tell newsmen what his proposal involved.

Instead of reading through all 13,000 words of the platform drafted by his 102-man committee last week, Dirksen roused the convention hall throng right at the start by throwing on the floor what he indicated were set speeches.

Then the silver-haired senator launched into a 25-minute oration of his own, interrupted by applause more than a dozen times.

During the evening's proceedings, the delegates adopted a new rule to prohibit racial discrimination within the party operations. It bars abridgement of participation in party affairs "for reasons of race, religion, color or national origin."

The new regulation also calls for the party to actively work for broader participation within the GOP.

Robert Kennedy's Office Closed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's staff has packed the last mementoes, decorations and personal files and officially closed the office.

It had been kept open two months after his assassination in Los Angeles, a traditional period on the death of a senator, for remaining staff members to wind up a variety of matters and pack effects.

Kennedy's office, on the third floor of the New Senate office building, was closed yesterday.

British Bank Robbers Use Chemical Weapon

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Robbers wearing crash helmets and goggles squirted ammonia at a senior bank cashier today and made off with about $91,200, the bank said. Police were looking for three men and a girl.

A National Provincial Bank spokesman said the senior cashier, Claude Wilson, also was hit on the head with a truncheon and hospitalized. He said three persons, two of them women, tried to stop the raiders and were slightly injured.

Dewey Lauds Way It Was During Eisenhower Years

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two-time presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey says Republican leadership can restore peace to the streets and the world.

Dewey, addressing the GOP convention last night, looked back with lengthy praise on the eight years under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, recuperating from a heart attack suffered earlier in the day.

"There were no riots, no student violence and no organized alienation from society. No one was burning draft cards and no one was desecrating the American flag," Dewey said. "It was customary for the law to be enforced so our people could go about their daily lives without fear."

The 1944 and 1948 nominee said, "At the end of the Eisenhower administration, we were at peace among ourselves. We were at peace in the world and no American boy was fighting anywhere in the world."

Dewey said, "Our children are entitled to know that an orderly, decent, peaceful society is possible. They should know that we had one under the last Republican administration and we can have it again with the election this year."

Rotell Named

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, today named to the executive committee of his election campaign Thomas J. Rotell, 5 Sonora Way, Corte Madera. Rotell is executive secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Coast Metal Trades Council in San Francisco.

Cardplaying Unit Stays All-Negro

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The American Bridge Association says it is going to remain in operation as an all-Negro organization because "even the matter of playing cards has been fast-shuffled and a cold hand dealt to the blacks."

The association, now holding a week-long convention, was formed in 1932.

Association spokesman Kenneth Cox said his group maintains a close relationship with the American Bridge League but sees little chance for a merger in the near future.

"The reason whey we felt perhaps we might stay separate is some people in the South might be excluded in a merger," he said.

Loma Verde Carnival Fund Decreases $200

The Loma Verde Homeowners Association made about $200 less on their carnival last month than originally figured, association president Arnold Baptist reported at the meeting Monday night at the Loma Verde School, according to secretary Agnes Roderick.

Baptist said the association made $1,021 profit instead of $1,200 as estimated last month, according to Mrs. Roderick.

At last month's meeting, the association voted to give the Novato Unified School District $700 for play equipment at the Loma Verde School. This was cut to $500 Monday night she said.

The balance of $521 from the carnival will be used toward a tot lot at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints at 375 Calle Arboleda, Mrs. Roderick reported.

The association members voted to add $300 from the general fund to the $521 for the tot lot, she said. It also received a $50 donation from Santa Rosa Savings and Loan Association for the tot lot development, she said.

The teen club will sell doughnuts from the Donut Hut in the Pacheco Plaza Shopping center all day on Aug. 25 with the proceeds going toward the tot lot, she said.

The association's family picnic will be held starting at 11 a.m., Aug. 18 at the Marin Town and Country Club in San Anselmo, she said.

Army Reservists Can Go Active

Army reservists may volunteer for tours of active duty for any length of time from now until June, 1969, it was announced by Sixth Army headquarters at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Army officials said the greatest need is for personnel in advisory and support assignments for reserve units at home stations, and first priority will be given to assignments involving support of annual active duty for reservists or the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Reservists who belong to units may apply through their unit commanders, while none-unit reservists may contact the nearest Army Reserve Center to submit applications.

There are 10 more or less active volcanoes in the Philippines.

Herrera Could Have Faked Paranoia Test

Herrera is on trial in Marin Superior Court for the murder of Army cook Ronald Lee Washburn, whose body was found in a San Rafael back yard Jan. 9.

Psychologist Alla Soufi said a very intelligent person could fill in answers on the Minnesota Multi-Phasic Personality Inventory test to show paranoia, and said Herrera was smart enough to do it.

The test was one of several given Herrera in May and last month by Soufi. Soufi later testified Herrera produced very similar results both times he took the test, and said it was unlikely he could have faked the test unless very familiar with that form of testing.

Prosecutor Ernest C. Zunino's cross-examination of earlier witnesses has indicated he will try to show Herrera is a sociopath rather than a schizophrenic. A sociopath is a person who recognizes right and wrong, but commits antisocial acts anyway. Schizophrenia is a mental disorder, and a court might find Herrera not guilty by reason of insanity if he is schizophrenic.

Three psychiatrists have testified that Herrera is a schizophrenic, probably paranoid. Soufi's testimony backed up their findings, but Zunino brought out some testimony favorable to the prosecution.

Herrera's behavior after the slaying, in hiding the gun and wiping it of fingerprints, "indicates he knew what he was doing," Soufi said.

Soufi conceded that Herrera might lie to beat the murder charge, but that would not mean he was not psychotic, he said.

ing benefits for injured workers, and pushed through a resolution recessing until Sept. 9.

Passage of the two bills normally would be final legislative approval, meaning they now go to the governor. Since Reagan and Burns clearly won't sign them, it was considered likely that organized labor, which strongly supports the bills, will take the matter to court. That would set the stage for a test of the legality of Burns' action adjourning the legislature and of Unruh's action in keeping the Democrats around and passing the bills.

Involved in such a suit would be the situation to prevail when lawmakers return Sept. 9. If the courts rule Burns legally had adjourned both houses, all legislation pending at that time would be dead, if they ruled in favor of the Assembly Democratic resolution that Burns' action was "a nullity," the legislation presumably would be alive.

During the day, both Burns and Unruh said they would ask Reagan to put the remaining key issues on a special session agenda when lawmakers return in September, if it is determined that the legislative session was, indeed, officially adjourned by Burns last weekend.

The issues are property tax relief, higher state aid to local schools, the increased benefits for workmen injured on or off the job, and a solution to the fiscal crisis of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

good cheer. He was being low key.

Asked how many votes he had, the onetime actor replied: "I'd love to find out." Asked if he would really like to be President, he replied with more emphasis: "You bet I'd like it."

The delegates, harassed in previous sessions by security restrictions and confused by candidate claims, get their opportunity to erupt into a traditional show of enthusiasm with tonight's nominating and seconding speeches.

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, who once fostered a draft-Rockefeller movement, was set to describe Nixon in glowing terms. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania had the word that Rockefeller's the man. Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, former U.S. treasurer, was chosen to laud Reagan.

The session was to open at 2 p.m. PDT but the schedule of speeches was unclear. Nominating speeches are made by members of state delegations which are called alphabetically and which may pass their call to another delegation.

Thus while California would seem to have the opportunity to nominate Reagan first, Alabama theoretically could pass to Maryland and permit Agnew to place Nixon's name before the convention first.

Study Set On Water, Sewerage

The North Marin County Water District will make a water and sewer study of 1,000 acres north of Marshall, according to an agreement approved last night by the district board.

The agreement with Cypress Point Associates and Cypress Point Farms calls for the developer to pay the $10,000 cost of the study of the Tomasini, Degottardi and Whitten properties between Marshall and Point Reyes, according to district manager Jerome B. Gilbert.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

MOBILE HOME PARK — Deferred action on service to a proposed 350-unit mobile home park south of Hamilton Air Force Base for Marin Valley Inc. The area is with the North Marin County Water District area but close to the facilities of the Marin Municipal Water District. Final action was delayed pending working out an agreement on the purchase of water from the Marin district and a formal request from the developer.

FILTER — Approved the installation of a filter system on the district's office pools, not to cost more than $300.

MAIN —Denied a request by Paul Brindel that his neighbor, Denny Owens, be required to install a two-inch water main to provide service for future development of a lot adjacent to Owens and owned by Brindel. Owens now has service through a one-inch line, Gilbert said.

MEETING — Received a request from Thomas Hardcastle, chairman of the Novato Sanitary District board, requesting another merger study meeting to be called after Aug. 13. The board asked the staff of the water district to arrange for such a meeting with the sanitary district and the city of Novato.

Hub School Budget At $1.8 Million

The San Anselmo School District Board last night in adjourned meeting adopted a $1,825,350 budget for 1968-69.

The budget compares to last year's of $1,632,670, with the increase mainly caused by expanding district teacher personnel and raises in teaching salaries, according to district officials.

Rulon Cook, administrative assistant, said budgeted expenditures for instruction including salaries and raises totals $1,217,930, up $160,159 from last year. Cook said capital outlay of $102,600 is budgeted and will include major purchases of maintenance equipment and books, and minimal construction.

Capital outlay last year was $62,204. Cook said the new budget is based on an estimate that the district's building loan repayments will be $73,595, and could be changed if the state sets a significantly different figure for that repayment.

He said that based on the $1,835,350 total budget figure, last year's tax rate of $3.415 per $100 assessed valuation is expected to drop approximately 7 to 10 cents this year because state loan repayments are lower. Repayments last year were $106,635. The tax rate, however, cannot be set until that figure for this year is learned.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

BASEBALL PARK — Authorized an additional $1,500 for improvement of the baseball field at Hidden Valley School. A total of $500 was approved last May.

CLAIM — Denied a claim for $50,000 damages in the May 31 death of Debra Ann Probert, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Broxholme K. Probert of 24 Grove Lane, San Anselmo. The child suffered head injuries in a fall at the Red Hill school May 22. The claim has been referrred to the district's insurance carrier.

HIRING — Employed Margaret Cleveland to teach a special class this year for the educationally handicapped. Her salary is $6,574.

MEETING — Scheduled the next board meeting at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 27 in the Red Hill School library. The regular meeting Aug. 20 will not be held because of vacations.

"The people in Santa Rosa didn't even know we could do it, because no one has ever voluntarily asked for it before," he said. The conditional license is usually issued to applicants who were denied a regular license for any of several reasons, he explained.

Conditions, or limitations, requested by the club are: During the day liquor will be served only at regularly scheduled club social events and tournaments; the club board will provide the ABC each quarter with a list of social events and tournaments planned by the club; and liquor will be served in the evenings no more than 16 times a year.

"All we want to do is just to be able to serve liquor at club functions, the ladies luncheons, the interclub tournaments and our occasional evening parties," Murray said. "We certainly don't want unrestricted sale on the premises at a bar, for example, nor do we want to hire a bartender."

He said the liquor would be served to adults only on the second floor of the clubhouse which is already off-limits for the club's junior members.

Murray noted that the ABC had not received any protests form St. Hilary's School or church, both neighbors of the club. The Tiburon Peninsula Club has a liquor license and is close to a school, he added, and the San Francisco Yacht Club and Corinthian Yacht Club both have licenses and are right in the middle of residential areas.

Tiburon City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose said the city has no objections to the club obtaining a liquor license. "The club's record with the city and police is clear," he said.

Sale of liquor is an accessory use to the club which is a legal nonconforming use in a single family residential area, Rose noted.

The club was denied an unrestricted license in 1965 after Hawthorne Terrace residents protested. Disputes between the club and its neighbors to the east have also come up in the past over the traffic generated by club functions, night lights on the tennis courts and landscaping which Hawthorn Terrace residents say will block their view.

ROBLES

His first witness, 22-year-old Michael McGee of Vacaville, may have provided some insight into prison life.

How did you meet Leo Robles: asked Robles.

"I met you through my husband, Rudy ," said McGee. "I tried it with you, but you turned me down. You don't mess around with homosexuals."

"Correct," said Robles, grinning and strutting behind the defense table.

Robles, convicted by the Marin jury of murdering a fellow inmate, Forrest W. Smith, 42, has conducted his own defense in the penalty phase of the trial, with court-appointed attorney Roger P. Garety acting as an adviser.

This created a problem yesterday morning, when Shaw introduced a prison-made knife allegedly found in Robles' cell at San Quentin. Robles, as his own attorney, insisted on examining the weapon. Judge Haley was reluctant.

Finally, the judge ordered the weapon placed on a table at a distance from the convict attorney and allowed Robles to look at it while flanked by prison guards.

Robles protested: "Isn't that showing prejudice your honor? It shows the jury that I'm not trusted here."

For his role as a defense lawyer, Robles has dressed himself in slacks, a bright green sport coat and big sun glasses. Correctional authorities have added chains and manacles.

Five Dead In Hollywood Shootings

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A Hollywood man, his wife and two daughters were shot to death today, presumably by the estranged husband of one of the daughters, who took his own life, police said.

A 3-year-old child was found unharmed hiding under a bed. A woman believed to be the housekeeper fled to a neighbor's home.

Lt. William M. West Jr., gave this account of the shooting:

Fred Chegwin, 31, shoved his way into the home of Phil Weinstein, 46, at about 8 a.m.

He shot Weinstein; his wife, Rosemary, 38, and their daughters, Debbie, 19, and Myra Chegwin, 24. All died of multiple chest wounds, police said.

Chegwin then apparently turned the .38-caliber revolver on himself.

The child, Jason, son of Myra and Fred Chegwin, was not found until after a neighbor, J. D. Foley, who heard shots fired, alerted police.

Gallinas Docks Restrict Traffic

Gallinas Creek Service Area directors say encroaching boat berths are restricting water traffic and they want the county board of supervisors to take action.

Directors, meeting Monday night in the Civic Center, asked the supervisors to amend the creek regulation ordinance. Concern about water safety and nonconforming docks on the canal also was expressed by directors.

John R. Van Horne of 503 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, was elected chairman of the board of directors, replacing Ronald W. Shafer, according to Michael King of the public works department, county adviser to the group.

Homeowners Ask Problems Review For Marinwood

Marinwood Association directors asked last night for a meeting with the community services district board to discuss a wide range of local problems.

George D. Gazulis, association president, said directors made the request after reviewing homeowners' comments about community improvement. The remarks were solicited by the association when dues were paid.

Gazulis said residents raised concern about speeding on Miller Creek Road, hippie-types using motorcycles around the community center, bus service, recreation facilities and creek developemnt. He said a meeting was sought with the district board as soon as possible.

City To Negotiate For Railroad Site

The Sausalito City Council voted unanimously last night to begin negotiations to purchase the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property at Caledonia and Bee streets and the building presently rented for the Sausalito Police Station.

Mayor Earl F. Dunphy initiated the discussion on the purchases.

"I feel we should buy the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property for a city hall and library and sell the building we are in," he said. "I also feel we should purchase the police department building."

Councilman Alexander R. Imlay commented "I felt at one time it was valuable to keep the city hall in the hub of the downtown area. But I now agree we should take steps to acquire the Northwestern property."

He added, "in the long range it might be better to have a joint police and fire facility. I'm less inclined to move swiftly on the police station."

City Mgr. George M. Patterson pointed out that for what is now paid in rent for the police station, the city could, by paying $67 more a year, on a 25-year lease-purchase agreement own the station and an adjoining parcel of land with two houses on it."

All councilmen favored the purchase, but Councilman Jan Paul Dyk objected to tying that to sale of the present city hall site.

"What are you going to put on it?" asked Mayor Dunphy.

"We need some open space," answered Dyk. "I would like to see the city hall stay downtown. The present city hall is adequate, especially if the library moves out. But I agree with keeping the police station where it is."

The council then voted to authorize the city manager and City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to enter into negotiations to acquire the police station on a 25-year lease-purchase basis.

Sausalito Raises Business License Fees; Take Double

An ordinance basing business license fees on gross revenue was unanimously adopted by the Sausalito City Council last night.

The fees have been unchanged in 22 years and are presently on a flat rate basis.

City Mgr. George M. Patterson who proposed the new method said it would double the city's revenue from $24,000 to $48,000 a year.

Jack J. Beckerman, representing several yacht brokers, said because of his clients' high volume and low margin of profit, the new tax would hit them very hard. He proposed a special classification for yacht brokers.

He also said the ordinance would require the books of professional people to be audited and this could constitute an invasion of professional privacy.

Patterson said he would look into both matters.

Plans for a reception for Mjr. James F. Low, who is returning to his home in Sausalito after six months in a North Vietnam prison camp, were begun. Mayor Earl F. Dunphy appointed Councilman Robin Sweeny and the city manager to arrange details.

At 12:15 a.m., with many items left on the agenda, the council voted to continue the meeting to Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

LONG VOYAGE

Marinwood Family To Sail Home

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP) — A Marinwood family of five planned to leave for home today in their 35-foot yacht Comet II.

"I got eight months leave of absence from the school where I teach," Wallace E. Baker, 42, explained as they prepared to set sail from the small port of Swanick in Hampshire.

"I felt this was my only chance of a lifetime to make such a trip," he said.

They sold their home at 1325 Idylberry Road and flew to England where they purchased the boat.

During the 12,000-mile ocean voyage, Baker said, he will still teach school—to his three sons, Brent, 17, Ron, 16, and Jack, 14.

It will be their first ocean voyage. Their sailing has been limited to the Bay Area.

"We're all for the idea," said his 36-year-old wife, who will cook and be conavigator. "We shall just have to find out if we're good sailors or not."

Baker, an art instructor, said he expects to be home again in time to resume teaching in January at Herbert Hoover Junior High School in San Francisco.

Boulevard Assessments Explained

The basis of assessment was questioned by residents last night when the Sausalito City Council heard comments on the proposed Sausalito Boulevard No. 2 Assessment District.

A public hearing is scheduled for Sept. 17. Bids will be opened Sept. 3.

But last night Philip B. Lygren, engineer for the assessment district,explained some of the details and property owners had a chance to sound off.

The project, estimated to cost $146,937, would provide a roadway, curbs and gutters, storm drains, retaining walls and sewers on a section of Sausalito Boulevard from near Fourth Street to the top of the hill near the water tank.

Costs of new sewer construction, where needed, would be distributed among all properties which are served.

One half of the total amount of assessment, exclusive of sewer costs, would be distributed equally among the property owners and a frontage assessment rate of $14.545 per lineal foot.

One third of the total amount, exclusive of sewer costs, would be distributed equally among the property owners on a frontage assessment rate of $14.545 per lineal foot.

One third of the total amount, exclusive of sewer costs, would be distributed equally among all properties lying on the down hill side and one sixth among those lying on the uphill side.

This amount to $766.031 per downhill dwelling unit and $421.317 per uphill unit.

It was the downhillers who were protesting last night.

Marin City Access Drive Is Proposed

The Mill Valley Community Relations Committee last night agreed to contact the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club and other Southern Marin organizations to urge their support of a second exit from Marin City into Tennessee Valley, according to Alan W. Barnett, committee spokesman.

Committee members heard that the county public works department has prepared three proposals which have not been presented to the board of supervisors.

Barnett said members agreed to contact Supervisor Peter H. Behr to ask his support for the road opening.

The committee also discussed approaching the San Francisco Urban League to find out if there are Negro families which would like to move into Mill Valley. No action was taken on the discussion, Barnett said.

Committee members also agreed to suggest that a proposed picnic for Oct. 6 be called the Mill Valley Community Day. The picnic had been suggested by Rev. George Carter of the Mill Valley Methodist Church and will be sponsored by the community relations committee, Barnett said.

Fairfax Board Sets Budget At $906,561

A budget of $906,561 was adopted last night by the Fairfax School District Board, making a property tax rate cut almost certain, Supt. H. Reginald Hammond reported.

He said the tax rate is expected to be $3.004 per $100 assessed valuation, down from last year's $3.035.

The total budget is up from the 1967-68 budget of $696,272, but slightly less than this year's publication budget of $911,214.

In other business last night, the board held a closed session to hear charges against an employee. The person involved asked for a hearing, also closed, and it was set for the next regular meeting at 7:45 p.m., Aug. 20, in the distric office.

Superintendent Hammond reported the KQED "family life" program, originally scheduled for last spring, will be presented in the fall. A community meeting to discuss the series was tentatively set for between the fall and spring semesters.

The board agreed to hold a special meeting at 7:45 p.m. Aug. 27 to study such items as enrollment and growth projections.

Board members will tour the schools beginning at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 21, Dr. Hammond said.

Ex-Quentin Guard Dies At Home

A 66-year-old retired San Quentin correctional officer, apparently despondent over ill health, died yesterday at his home of self-inflicted gunshot wound, the county coroners office reported.

Roy Miller, who lived in an apartment at 83 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was discovered dead in his bathroom about 1:30 p.m. by his son, Raymond Melvin Miller, of Mount Shasta.

The younger Miller told Deputy Coroner Keith Craig that the had taken his father to the doctor yesterday morning and that on bringing him back to his apartment, he administered morphine to his father for pain, as prescribed by the doctor.

The son said that his father had terminal cancer but that he did not know it. The father had been told by his doctor that he was to return to the hospital, and the son went out to cash a check at his father's request.

Upon his return he found his father dead with a .22 caliber rifle at his side in the bathroom. In his father's bedroom was an undated note which said that "the pain was very bad" and that he didn't want to be a burden to his son.

An autopsy is to be performed at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, where funeral arrangements are pending.

Miller was born in California and had lived in Marin County for the past 10 years. He was employed at San Quentin for 15 years before his retirement. He was a widower.

Novato Girl Sues Over Power Line

A 5-yearold Novato girl, acting through her mother, filed a $125,000 personal injury suit in Marin Superior Court today, asking damages for injuries she suffered when burned by electrical transmission lines running through a neighbor's yard.

Karen Cutler, of 15 Gertrude Lane, Novato, asked the money for burns suffered on her hands. The action claimed they were caused by lines in the yard of Ruby McCormick at 770 Sutro Street, Novato. Mrs. McCormick and three John Does were named as defendants.

The suit alleged that the lines were negligently maintained and their presence violated a Novato city ordinance.

The action also seeks costs of the suit and special damages to pay continuing medical bills for the girl.

Chamber Hits County Plan On Vacations

The county's new vacation plan for employees has been criticized by directors of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

Richard P. Nave, chamber president, said in a letter to the board of supervisors that granting three weeks' vacation after one year clashed with private business and industry practices.

Nave reported that a check of 10 local employers revealed no case where workers were able to take three weeks vacation before two years' service.

He said the directors were concerned the policy would set precedent for other workers to seek added vacation benefits and thus "plague man an employer, governmental and private."

The letter also asserted that the vacation policy was enacted so fast it prevented public expression. Nave asked reconsideration of the policy during next year's budget discussions.

Burglars Invade Fire Chief's Home

Chief Richard K. Oswald of the Tamalpais Valley Fire Department complained to sheriff's deputies Sunday that someone stole items worth $988 from his home over the weekend.

Chief Oswald, who said someone may have had a key to the house at 571 Fairview Drive, reported that items stolen included guns, records, jewelry, cash and camera equipment.

Other burglaries reported by Sheriff's deputies today included:

Woman's Body Found In Locked Garage

The body of a 34-year-old housewife was found in her locked garage in the Dominican section of San Rafael yesterday, apparently having died five or six days ago.

Donna Marie Silver of 94 Convent Court was found on the floor of the garage by a real estate agent who had been asked to check on her by her attorney.

Churchill M. Simonson of 561 Tenaya Drive, Tiburon, told police that he unlocked the door of the garage and that pieces of foam rubber, apparently used to seal the door, fell out.

He said Mrs. Silver was lying beside her car, which had its ignition in the "on" position.

The house was locked and seven daily newspapers were on the front porch.

Mrs. Silver's attorney, Anthony V. Salerno of San Francisco told Deputy Coroner Keth Craig that she was going through a divorce action and that she had seemed quite depressed when he last saw her on Thursday. He said he had asked Simonson to check on her because he had not heard from her again.

Her estranged husband, William, lives in San Mateo.

Craig estimated that Mrs. Silver had been dead five or six days. An autopsy is to be performed at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, where funeral arrangements are pending.

Mrs. Silver was born in Idaho and had lived in Marin County about six years.

School Plans Sent To State

Finals plans for Reedland Woods School were approved by the Reed School District board last night, Supt. H. Joseph Edgington reported.

The plans will be submitted to the office of architecture in the state Department of Education this week for final approval, Edgington said he expects construction to start by the end of September at the latest.

Construction of the school is estimated to cost $1,250,000, Edgington said, and will be financed by a $1.6 million bond issue approved last year.

The board delayed action on final approval of the 1968-69 budget until 5 p.m. today because of the late hour. The budget hearing will be held in the Boulevard.

Woman Injured In Novato Crash

Patricia Clara Swart, 21, of 1771 Grant Avenue, Apt. 5, was treated at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital for neck strain, suffered yesterday, according to Novato police, while she was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Sgt. Richard Alfred Swart, which collided with another driven by Charles Walter Haymart, 79, of 2115 Vineyard Road.

The accident was at 8:55 p.m. on Grant Avenue east of Eighth Street.

Trustees To Explore Educational Changes

The San Rafael Board of Education opened last night an investigation of applying to San Rafael new educational concepts including bigger schools, differing methods of teaching and of shifting students from class to class. (Another San Rafael Board of Education story, page 1.)

Trustees agreed to look into the value of such innovations at a daylong meeting at 9:30 a.m. Aug. 24 in the offices of San Francisco architects Richard Marshall and Chester Bowles, Jr.

The scheduling of the meeting followed the architects' presentation of plans for a $2 million middle school for sixth through eighth graders adjacent to Glenwood Elementary School.

Plans called for large classrooms in which several classes would go on simultaneously, enabling teachers to work together in shifting students about and planning the best course of study for each student.

Lawrence I. Kramer, Jr., board president, called attention to the planned capacity of 900, contending the "concept of replicating small schools is, given the nature of the economy, a mistake" and advocated "developing large schools of purpose."

Kramer said the Aug. 24 meeting may also include discussion of high school construction, noting that the district is now planning a $5,925,000 bond issue for February which would include funds for site acquisition and first phase development of a third district high school.

He said the board should look into a concept of "smallness within bigness" in which high school students would be shifted about in groups on large campuses with more extensive facilities than present-day schools.

In this connection, the board authorized Supt. John F. Plank to apply for $208,946 in interest-free advanced planning funds from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, to be paid back on passage of the bond issue for which plans are made, to study construction of a third high school and the notion of "smallness withing bigness."

The architects also presented plans for a $130,000 Short Elementary School for 150 to 180 students to replace the present facility which has been declared unsafe under state earthquake safety standards. The present school would be razed.

Also, the board approved application for $60,815 in federal funds for expansion of the Santa Venetia Middle School library, creating an "exemplary library" by adding 7,000 books and a collection of audio-visual aids.

Novatan Asks $100,000 In False Arrest

A Novato man arrested near his Marin Country Club home in April in connection with the kidnaping of an East Bay woman has filed claims for $100,000 for false arrest.

Jerome W. Gates of 9 Prestwick Court has accused the United States of America, Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Contra Costa County and the city of Novato of causing "great loss to his reputation."

Gates was arrested four days after the April 23 kidnaping of Mrs. Margaret Louis, 61, wife of a Lafayette Grocery chain magnate. Mrs. Louis was released by her kidnappers on the day Gates was arrested, and $250,000 ransom money left in Golden Gate Park was never picked up by the abductors.

Gates had attended a baseball game at Candlestick Park the night before his arrest and on his way home his car fell behind the one carrying the ransom money on Bayshore Highway.

Gates' car was traced by FBI officers who had been keeping the ransom car under observation.

At 8 a.m. the next morning Gates claims he was stopped in his car near the Marin Country Club golf course and that he was arrested "without warrant or process or legal authority" and taken to the Novato police station.

There he says he was held for 10 hours without being allowed to contact his attorney or his wife and that he was "forced to sign" a document. He also claims he was fingerprinted, subjected to a lineup and restrained with force.

This experience, Gates says caused him to be "degraded in the eyes of his family, friends, neighbors and business associates." He said he was released from custody without any charges filed against him.

Gates said if his claims, which he is submitting to all government bodies involved, are not settled he will go to court. He has engaged Richard V. Bettini, San Rafael attorney, to represent him.

MARIN COOKBOOK

Miniature Hot Dogs Please Pre-Schoolers

What to serve when the small fry come for lunch is a problem for many a mother. Something a little special is suggested by the Pixie Parents, Inc. members in their entry for the Marin Art and Garden Center's cookbook.

They call it "luncheon for tantalizing two's, traumatic three's and frustrating four's." The menu includes minature hot dogs, deviled eggs, carrot sticks, macaroni and cheese, angel gelatin cake and chocolate milk. (Plenty of paper napkins might also be a good idea.)

On individual plates arrange several miniature hot dogs (found in the baby food department at the market), a deviled egg and a few carrot strips around a small mound of the macaroni, suggests Mrs. Ken Gelatti.

ANGEL CAKE
(Recipe by Jane Stevick)

1 small angel food cake
2 boxes frozen strawberries
½ pound miniature marshmalows
2 boxes strawberry gelatin
½ pint whipping cream

Mix gelatin using juice from strawberries as part of the water. Let stand until partly thickened. Beat well with fork. Add strawberries, whipped cream, marshmallows and fold together. Break angel food cake in small pieces and place in bottom of angel food cake pan. Alternate strawberry mixture with cake pieces until is used. (3 layers). Let set in the refrigerator overnight.

Grow "Kabobs"

If you have a garden, consider growing your own "kabob" meals. Small yellow, cherry or plum tomatoes are delicious on a skewer with cubed meat grilled over charcoal briquets.

A herb garden glamorizes meals if you plant basil (for sliced broiled tomatoes), dill or chives (for flaky baked potatoes) and mint (for barbecued lamb.

Carrots Are Tasty Economical Dishes

Should you ever spare the time to poll carrot eaters around the country, you would probably find there are enough of such "devotees" to start a carrot club.

As a matter of fact, carrot popularity was so strong, when the vegetable was first brought over from Holland to 18th century England, that ladies of fashion used the feathery tops to decorate their elaborate coiffures.

The Savory Carrot Casserole is an appetizing example of fresh carrot culinary exploration. This dish also underscores this favorite vegetable's adaptability. Few garden grown items, with the possible exception of potatoes, can match the facility of the carrot for economical and, when handled creatively, elegant eating.

This vegetable masterpiece also provides one of the richest sources of vitamin A. Nowadays carrots are offered the year around, topped, washed, and packaged in film bags. Their nutrients keep well under storage conditions, too.

SAVORY CARROT CASSEROLE

2 pounds carrots
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup fresh chopped onion
½ cup sliced celery
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Cover and cook carrots in small amount of boiling water with 1 teaspoon salt until just tender; drain if necessary; mash well. Saute onion and celery in butter or margarine about 5 minutes or until just tender. Mix into carrots with remaining ½ teaspoon salt and nutmeg. Pile into lightly greased 1-quart casserole. Bake, covered, in 375°F. oven 15 minutes. Remove cover; bake 5 minutes longer. Makes 6-8 servings.

CARROT CELERY GARDEN DUET

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon powdered thyme
½ pound carrots, thickly sliced (about 1¼ cups)
1 cup thinly sliced celery

Melt butter or margarine in medium saucepan; stir in salt and thyme. Add carrots and celery. Cover and cook over low heat until just tender, stirring occasionally (about 20 minutes). Makes 4 servings.

ELEGANT EATING at budget prices is provided by this flavorful casserole of mashed carrots, onion, and celery. No one would ever dream this luscious dish falls into your "pennywise" recipe collection.

Know How To Pick A Delicious Melon

Are you in a melon quandary? This is the season to enjoy many members of the luscious melon family. We hope our points are helpful and assure you that no matter which type you choose, you're bound for delicious and nutritious eating.

Let's begin with watermelon. June through August are the big months for this crisp, juicy melon with vitamins A and C and ice cold is the way to serve them. Maturity means that a bloom over the rind surface gives it a somewhat velvety appearance with the ground side a yellowish color. Thump tests are not reliable, unless of course you're an expert. Watermelon is a weight watcher's delight.

Which melon surface veining should be coarse and corky with a grayish color or even a yellowish tinge when purchased? Delicious cantaloupe. Let it ripen and mellow at room temperature. Cantaloupe is low on calories and high on vitamins A and C. Check the stem end scar which should be slightly sunken, smooth and calloused before you take it home.

Which melon lives up to its name with such good taste? Honeydew. Fully mature honeydews have a creamy rind color, and waxy feel to the surface. In addition, ripeness may be indicated by a pleasant fruity aroma and a slight softening at the blossom end. They're mostly from California and Arizona and reach their peak June through September. They have plenty of nutrition and they are good for the calorie-conscious too.

What resembles a large cantaloupe and is named after an exotic part of the world? Persian melons, with thick, orange flesh and light green rind. As for cantaloupes, the netting should be thick, coarse and corky, and the background skin color should be tinged with yellow as ripening proceeds. California grows most of this type melon which has a good supply of vitamin A. Serve them chilled with a squeeze of lemon or lime juice to bring out their exciting flavor.

Which are large and pear-shaped with a mottled green and yellow color when ripe? Cranshaw. They're rare and one of the finest melons grown with peak production in August and September. The flesh is salmon pink.

Casabas have a yellow rind with soft, thick, creamy white flesh. They're a special taste sensation and available July through October.

Gelatin Fruit Salads Can Be Perked Up With Various Melons

Watermelon takes especially well to gelatin fruit salads, either as puree (reduce the liquid content somewhat in preparing the gelatin mixture) or in whole balls or tiny slivers. For example, fold, very gently, into partially chilled, red-hued gelatin, very tiny balls of watermelon and avocado scooped out with the ¼-teaspoon of your measuring set (takes patience, looks great; squirt a little lemon juice on the avocado to keep it from darkening if you don't add that fruit immediately to the gelatin).

FROZEN WATERMELLON SALAD

2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons pineapple juice (from drained canned pineapple)
½ cup whipping cream
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup well-drained, canned crushed pineapple
1 cup sliced fresh peaches
1 cup watermelon balls
1 cup cantaloupe balls
1 cup honeydew melon balls

Do not use fresh or frozen pineapple in this recipe, as enzymes in the uncooked fruit will prevent the gelatin from acting.

Plaee gelatin, lemon, and pineapple juice in a small bowl, and stir until gelatin is softened. Place bowl in a pan of hot water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Whip cream until almost stiff, then beat in mayonnaise, sugar and salt. Add softened gelatin. Stir in fruit (prepare melon balls as directed in preceding recipe). Pour mixture into loaf pans and place in freezer until just firm. (Completely frozen melon balls are not as full-flavored as those just slightly frozen) If salad does freeze, allow thawing time before serving. Cut salad into slices, and serve on lettuce leaves.

Ice Cream Cools

When President George Washington spent the summer of 1790 in New York, his ice cream bill from one merchant amounted to about $200. Today Americans spend billions for the nation's first dessert favorite. Like Washington's ice cream, it is usually based on milk products, flavorings, and sugar, added for body substance as well as for sweetening. In the past 10 years sugar sales to manufacturers of ice cream and other dairy products have about doubled, according to U.S. Dpeartment of Agriculture.

Old Trick For Making Sponge Cake

When making a cake with regular all-purpose flour instead of cake flour, an old-time trick is to add a little cornstarch. It works as well today as it did in grandmother's day.

1 cup sifted flour
4 teaspoons corn starch
6 eggs
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 tablspoons margarine, melt and cooled

Sift together flour and cornstarch; set aside. Place a 2½-quart bowl over a large pan of hot, not boiling, water. Water should not touch bottom of bowl. Combine eggs and sugar in bowl. With electric mixer at high speed or with rotary beater, beat egg mixture until just slightly warm. Remove bowl from hot water. Continue beating until egg mixture comes to 1 inch from top of bowl. Beat in vanilla. Sift ⅔ of flour mixture at a time over egg mixture. Carefully fold in each addition until well blended, using a wire whisk or rubber spatula. Quickly fold in melted, cooled margarine. Turn into 2 greased and floured (8 x 1½-inch) layer pans. Bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven 20 minutes or until cake tests done when checked with a cake tester. Remove from pans immediately; cool on wire rack. Makes 2 (8-inch) layers.

French Bread Is Grill Treat

When you cook over barbecue briquets outdoors or in, depend on French bread as an asset to the meal. If toasted, it is a perfect accompaniment to many vegetable and meat dishes.

To begin with, slice a loaf of French bread not quite through at 1-inch intervals. Into each slice pour melted butter with crushed garlic or browned butter with celery salt. Wrap the loaf in foil and heat on a charcoal grill.

For something different, dip thick slices of French bread into seasoned melted butter, dunking thoroughly. Then toast the slices over the glowing coals, turning once.

You can always invent your own spreads. To make tomato butter, mash soft butter with chopped tomatoes and a bit of basil. You also can spread the bread with cheese butter, made by mashing butter and blue cheese together.

A tasty bread, along with frankfurters or hamburgers and a green salad, can make a meal. A seasoned and buttered bread is also superb with a favorite beef, lamb or chicken meal cooked over flavor-giving barbecue briquets.

Vacation Days Often Call For Special Brunch Menus

When friends or relatives are visiting, mornings are lazy and casual. Unless something unusual is planned, visitors will sleep late, in time to combine the meals of breakfast and lunch, called brunch.

A wise hostess makes this an interesting meal from which to choose: melon wedges, frosty orange juice, Canadian-style bacon with banana fritters, scrambled eggs and toast.

Canadian-style bacon is available either in chunk, that is by the piece, or already sliced. It's a no-waste cut that cooks quickly by broiling, panbroiling or panfrying.

Canadian-Style Bacon with Banana Fritters

8 slices Canadian-style bacon, cut ½ inch thick
Banana Fritters

Place Canadian-style bacon on broiler rack. Insert broiler rack and pan in broiler so that the top surface of the meat is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. When the bacon is nicely browned, about 5 to 6 minutes, turn and brown other side. Allow 8 to 10 minutes total broiling time. 4 servings.

Vegetables Will Grill In Foil

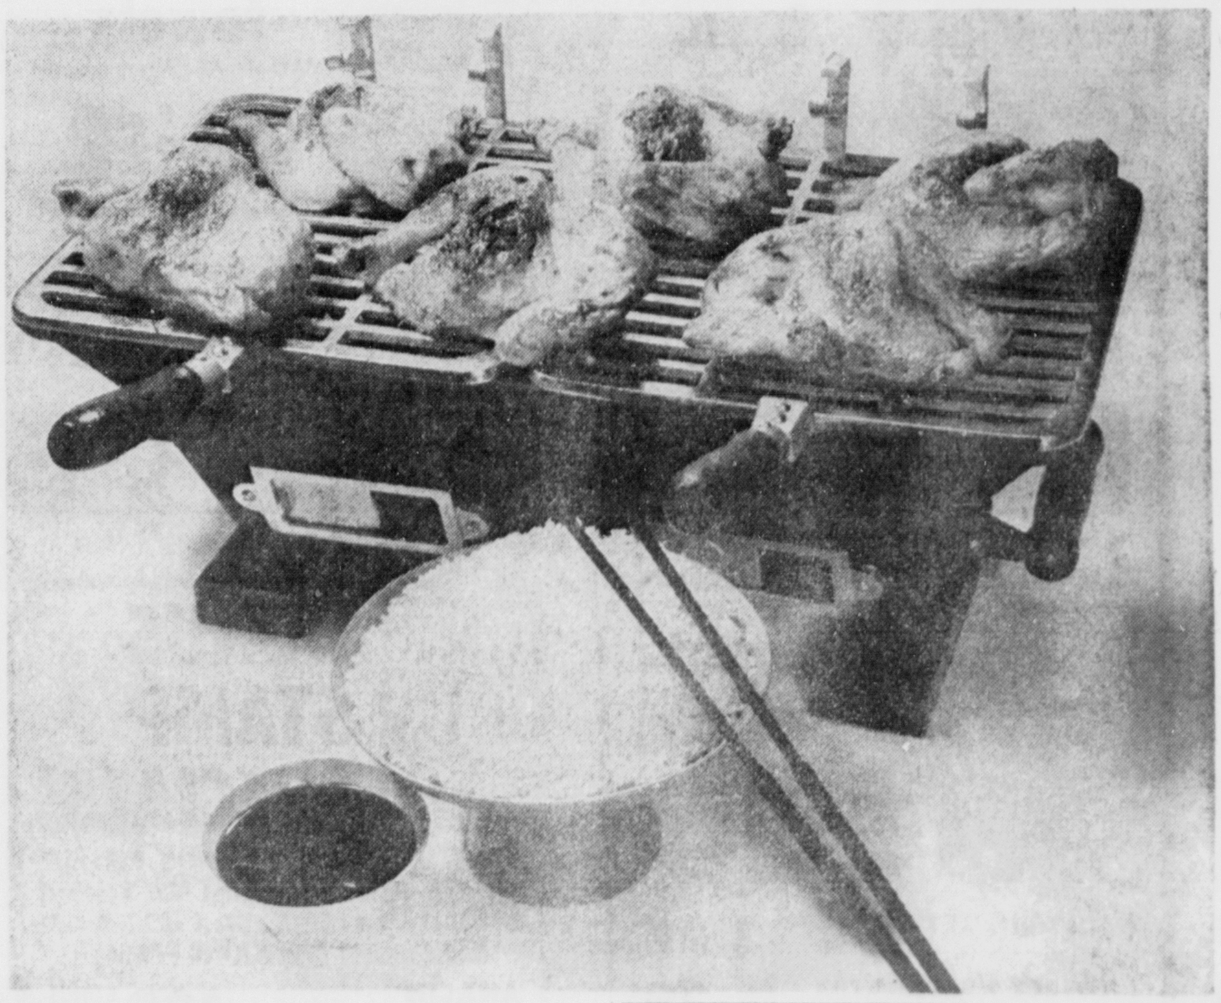
Frozen vegetables can be taken right from the wrappings without being thawed, put in foil with butter added, and cooked immediately on the charcoal grill.

Take a length of foil about the size of a breadboard. Put a good dab of butter on the center and then add your unwrapped block of frozen vegetables. Crumple up foil toward the top so it looks like a paper bag. The bag should be slightly open to let steam escape. Enough steam stays in to keep vegetables moist and juicy. Cook over low charcoal briquet heat or at the side of the fire to avoid scorching.

Banana Fritters

1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
½ cup milk
1 egg, beaten
2 teaspoons melted lard
3 to 4 firm bananas
2 tablespoons flour
Lard for deep-fat frying

Sift 1 cup flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine milk, egg and lard. Add to dry ingredients and mix until batter is smooth. Cut each banana into 3 or 4 diagonal pieces. Roll in remaining flour and dip in batter. Fry in deep hot lard (360° F.), turning frequently for even browning. Remove and drain on absorbent paper. 6 to 8 servings.



Burger Topping

Mix toasted slivered almonds and crumbled blue cheese into yogurt; season with salt, pepper and garlic powder. Spoon onto barbecued hamburgers.

At Last The Secret Of Japanese Cornish Hen

The French learned to use wine to tenderize meat and intensify its flavor. But centuries ago, the Chinese and the Japanese had a secret way with meat — which worked with meat as tender and subtle as Rock Cornish Hen. You may have tried to "teriaki" meat before — but never as easily as the delicate Japanese way. Here is a master recipe that's simple and should become your secret weapon for barbecues.

ROCK CORNISH HEN TERIAKI

6 Rock Cornish game hens
1½ cups soy sauce
½ cup lemon juice
1½ cloves garlic, crushed or put through a garlic press

Split Cornish hens in half. Put into bowl and pour combined ingredients over them. Marinate overnight or from 12 to 24 hours (turn if necessary). Place halves on broiler rack, skin side down, in 350 degrees oven for 30 minutes. Turn the halves over and continue to broil another 30 minutes.

TRACING THE large leaves from Marin trees and ferns with pastels is one of the crafts projects which interests the Marin City girls during their daily nature study sessions. Here Janet Howard does a careful tracing in pastels.

DIANE COMPTON dips a wire loop into the liquid plastic in the process of making attractive lapel pins in the shape of multi-colored flowers.

LEARNING NEW dances brings top enthusiasm to the girls and leaders busy each day in the Summer Carousel day camp program at Arequipa camp near Fairfax. The girls come daily from their Marin City homes.

Summer Carousel At Arequipa

By BARBARA HOSMER

On a warm summer day with the scent of bay leaves in the air and the sun filtering through the trees at Arequipa, near Fairfax, some 50 girls from Marin City are laughing by the pool, tracing leaves with heads bent over their chalk, creating lapel "flowers" with liquid plastic and learning dances in the shade.

Each group is intent on its project of the moment, whether it's playing kickball or planning the day's cookout.

The girls also enjoy the charter bus ride from their homes in Southern Marin to the Fairfax campsite and the outings they've had to the East Bay and the Peninsula.

The five-week day camp is the result of a special $5,000 grant from United Bay Area Crusade to the Golden Gate Council of Camp Fire Girls to run the project, called "Summer Carousel." The purpose is twofold — to introduce the girls to the crafts, sports and fun of the Camp Fire Program and to train its leaders, from Marin City, so that more permanent groups can be formed for the girls in the Marin City area.

Shirley Thornton is the camp site director for Summer Carousel, and she is assisted by a group of other Marin City women and teen-agers who serve as counselors and aides to the groups of girls and receive leadership training as well.

The counselors and aides include Nancy Gorrill of Mill Valley, Jean Weinrich of San Francisco, Ruth Randolph, Gloria Dickens, Janet Fowler, Deborah Perry, Yvonne Howard, Anita Stover, Judy Turner, Donna Quiett, Terry Bullock, Linda Duvall, Barbara Brooks, Vivian Adams, Linda Harvey and Gwendolyn Jackson.

Mrs. Jane Minahan of the Camp Fire Council in San Francisco is the Camp Fire director of the summer project.

Two groups of Camp Fire Girls have been organized in Marin City for some time, with Dominican College girls serving as their leaders. The Summer Carousel program is training women and teen-agers from Marin City itself to become leaders for the girls in their community, as they are familiar with its interests and culture and can be of greater assistance in helping the girls of their neighborhoods to explore the Camp Fire program in ways that interest the girls themselves.

The program at Arequipa has also put the girls from Marin City in contact with Camp Fire Girls from throughout Marin, as they have been joining Summer Carousel for cookouts and other special events.

The summer program has found the girls enthusiastic in learning to swim well, dancing, planning sleep-outs and cook-outs, menu and food preparation, dramatics and crafts. They've had fun making stew in foil over a camp fire and churning homemade ice cream in a crank freezer. Nature and crafts specialists have come from San Mateo to assist the girls with projects they've chosen themselves.

It's a busy active summer for the youngsters with some emphasis on Negro culture and the home arts, and the fun of doing things together may carry over into the fall and winter months when this large group of Marin girls will have the chance to tailor the Camp Fire program to their own interests.

Robert McKeays Of Novato Cover 9000 Miles On Trip To Alaska

By MOLLY MARIN

Traveling more than 9000 miles by bus, train, ferry, auto and jet and prop planes, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKeay of Novato who returned last week following a five-week trip to Alaska.

The McKeays, accompanied by his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McKeay of Healdsburg, stayed with the Clifford McKeay's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Judkins, while in Anchorage.

They drove by car from Novato to Prince Rupert where they rode the ferry on the Inland Passage to Haines, Alaska. They then drove the Alkan highway to Anchorage. From Anchorage they flew to Nome and then to Kotzebue, an Eskimo village, north of the Arctic Circle. They also visited Mt. McKinley National Park and Seward on the south coast of Alaska.

Also on their itinerary was Dawson City, and they took the narrow gauge railroad from Whitehorse to Skagway, the route of the gold miners of the '98 gold rush, before returning home.

Guests included Dede Gatchell, Mo Champie, Stephanie Rainsford, Michele Williamson, Bruce Eades, Bill Harris, John McLaughlin, Les Schlaegel and the honoree's brother, Greg, and sister, Lorna.

DIANA JEAN Ostlind, who will be wed to Paul V. Morse on Aug. 17, was honored at a shower July 28 given by Genetha Day and Christine Morgan. Mrs. Raymond Randolph of San Rafael entertained Diana and her bridesmaids Sunday at a luncheon and swimming party at her home.

Tuesday, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Sterling of Palo Alto are planning a cocktail and dinner party for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morse (Judy Sterling). Frank, Paul's brother, and Judy are coming from Cambridge, Mass., to be in the wedding party.

Still another party is planned for the couple on Aug. 15 to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dimmick of Garberville and Tiburon.

THE REV. AND Mrs. George Beard are leaving Marin County to live in Blaine, Wash., where Rev. Beard will serve as pastor of Blaine Lutheran Church and Clearbrook Lutheran Church in Lynden, Wash.

Mrs. Beard is the former Andrea Anker, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Anker of San Rafael.

MR. AND MRS. Leo Lowery of Mill Valley celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary July 20 with a surprise champagne and buffet supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Beckstrand of Novato.

The couple were married in Carson City, Nev. and have lived in Mill Valley the past 22 years. They have two daughters, Mrs. James A. (Patricia) O'Shea and Mrs. Melanie Thomas, both of Mill Valley. They also have two grandsons, Jimmy O'Shea and Paul Thomas, and a granddaughter, Veronica Ann O'Shea.

The celebration was planned by friends, Mrs. C. W. Gubka and her daughter, Kristie, and Mr. and Mrs. George Beckstrand.

June 30, a Mass of Thanksgiving was offered for the couple which was followed by a renewal of the marriage vows. The blessing was given by the Rev. John J. O'Brian at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church. Mrs. Lowery's corsage and Mr. Lowery's boutonniere were sent by friends, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Hupe of Dobbins, former residents of Mill Valley.

Airlines Recruiting Bi-Lingual Hostesses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the storybook pictures, Cinderella is always a blonde.

Now there's a new version. She's a dark-haired Mexican-American and instead of a pumpkin coach she has a jet plane.

She is one of about 25 to 50 Spanish speaking stewardesses flying for Continental Airlines, which says it is finding "an untapped resource" for top flight stewardesses in the Mexican-American community.

"THESE GIRLS NEVER thought they could become stewardesses," says a spokesman for the airline. "The pictures they had seen of hostesses always showed Anglo-American girls."

Last September the airline launched an all-out recruitment program in East Los Angeles, predominantly Mexican-American.

ONE OF THE first recruits was Esther Martinez, 27, born in Matamoros, Mexico. She was working in a department store when, as she recalls, "We saw an ad about serving aboard the jets, and the other girls dared me to apply.

"I WAS SO excited to be hired. Mexican-American girls have very strict mothers, and mine cried and said, 'I raised you to be a nice girl.' But now she loves my job."

Esther's career developed in storybook fashion.

After she received her wings, Continental chose her as its entry in the World Exposition of Flight beauty contest. She caught the judges' eyes, and the next thing she knew she was Queen of Flight.

Off she went to Washington to meet President Johnson. Then she made a trip to Vietnam to cheer up servicemen. And soon she leaves on a tour of the Southwest to recruit Spanish-speaking girls for jobs like her own.

THE CONTINENTAL program is the first of several being encouraged by the Service Employment Redevelopment Agency (SER), a manpower program aimed at aiding the Spanish-speaking population of the southwestern states.

Rick Sanchez, director of public relations for SER, says the program has inspired other airlines to do the same. Sanchez, Miss Martinez and Mel Goetz, manager of employment for Continental, will travel through the West recruiting hostesses.

Sanchez says that Trans World Airlines has hired several Mexican-American reservation clerks, and Braniff Airlines is training girls in San Antonio. Western Airlines, he said, is scheduled to begin recruiting Mexican-American girls in the San Jose area.

Meanwhile, the Continental spokesman said Goetz has left for Albuquerque, N.M., to confer with airline officials there about hiring not only Mexican-American girls but American Indians as well.

"THERE IS A tremendous source of employees untapped," said the spokesman, "and it's hard to find the really good stewardesses we need."

Continental employs 700 to 800 hostesses, but hires only one out of every 100 young women who apply.

Mexican-American girls, who are bi-lingual, have been especially helpful on flights between Los Angeles and points in Texas such as El Paso near the Mexican border, airline officials say.

Requirements for entering Continental's training program are the same for Mexican-American hostesses as their Anglo-American counterparts. Girls must be at least 20. They must graduate from a five-week intensive training program.

Then their flight wings are pinned on their lapels . . . and away they go.

SOME OF THE "petals" of the lapel pins the group has made are assembled into flowers by Belinda Triggs, left, and Debra Williams during their crafts session at the day camp which will run until Aug. 23. (Independent-Journal photos)

LIVING PROOF of the success of a recruitment program among Mexican-Americans by airlines is Esther Martinez. She not only was the first Mexican-American to graduate from the airline's stewardess school but also became the International Queen of Flight at the World Exposition of Flight in Las Vegas.

Be Original When You're Redecorating

Don't copy decors you've seen or read about. Innovate! Think up your own designs and let your personality come through.

Use remodeling and decorating magazines, books and booklets for inspiration and guidance, and your imagination for turning basic ideas into customized motifs.

Carrying out original home decorating schemes will, in most cases, necessitate the use of finishing materials that will not hamper you either esthetically or functionally. Such materials are available. Ceramic tile is one. It comes in so many colors, designs, textures, shapes and sizes that it can be used as an integral part of any decor and has no physical restrictions that could limit its uses.

Doing your own decorative scheming will permit you to build in standard or "dreamed up" conveniences. In the kitchen, for example, you may want to provide storage space for portable appliances or special shaped plates, pots and pans; in the dining room it may be a serving counter with infrared lighting above to keep food warm during dinner; or in the rec room a wet bar may facilitate hosting if you do a lot of entertaining.

Unwed Mother Must Make Her Own Decision On Keeping Baby

DEAR HELEN:

You don't generalize, and this is good, for circumstances and the people involved alter solutions. There are all types of unwed mothers. As you say, for some, it's best to give their babies up, but not for all. Keep saying it.

At a very young age, I became pregnant. Fortunately I had understanding relatives and friends. I forgave myself and started out to make the best of my life with my new responsibility. As soon as I was able after my little boy was born, I went to school and learned to be a market checker. I worked until my bones ached. The child's father, with some reluctance, provided a little help.

Now I am married to a wonderful man who fell in love with both of us. Adoption papers and records are sealed, but we will tell our son as soon as he is old enough that he was adopted by his father and that his mother wouldn't have given him up for anything in the world.

Will he know he was born out of wedlock? Aren't most adopted children?

Does a girl with an illegitimate child have two strikes against her when it comes to a good marriage? Not if she is decent and otherwise desirable. I am not even pretty, but I had two other offers of marriage from fine men before I fell in love with my husband.

I would advise unwed expectant mothers to ask themselves if they are really the type to take the easiest way out. It may not be the best way to lasting happiness. And then again it may. — NOT UNIQUE

DEAR N. U.:

True. In any human relations problem the question is not, "Is this what others have done?" but "Is this decision wisest and best for those most intimately involved with the situation?" And that takes a lot of thinking. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

In your "What is A . . . ?" series someone important has been overlooked. So here's my version of

WHAT IS A GRANDPA?

A grandpa is someone you can trust. He'll keep you company when you're alone. You can tell him your secrets and he won't breathe a word.

A grandpa is a friend who'll let you beat him at checkers on purpose. He'll even sneak you on an all-men fishing trip and when you spill the can of worms in the ocean, he won't throw you overboard.

He's someone who will take you home with him on vacation. If you're wondering if he'll forget you on your birthday, forget it. He's not that kind of guy.

He's only just the greatest guy on earth. — LYNN

DEAR HELEN:

Better get your mail bags ready because I have a feeling you're going to be deluged with letters protesting your advice to use only one foot when driving an automatic shift automobile. (Note from H: You're SO-o-o right.)

Stick to lovelorn and worn, chum, and leave the driving to us. — JOE

DEAR JOE:

And you'd better check with a driver training school and the D of MV, whose advice to novices is: "Forget you have a left foot." — H.

Children Want Good Theatre

By GRACE HENDERSON

"The theater is made up of people coming together" is the background used by Cristina L. White in writing plays for children. She expects a crisis every day in producing the plays but feels if people work together well, everything will be worthwhile.

Cristina has written four plays thus far, showing a keen interest in children which was reflected the day we were at the theater.

The first performance of "Rumpelstiltskin" had been completed in the morning but neighborhood children were back in the afternoon to watch the excitement felt with theater activity. "We've had them here for six weeks," said the petite Miss White as she exchanged comments with the boys. She was dressed in a cool free-flowing bright shift dress, her hair held back from her face with a red headband.

Born in Manila, P.I., Cristina has lived in most of the states in America. She is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Blair Dewey, formerly with the U.S. Army, now retired. Col. Dewey is associated with a law firm in Alameda where the couple resides.

The Whites left Manila when Cristina was six-years-old. Frequent moves followed, and an interest in writing plays began in the fifth grade; she was graduated from Berkeley High School. She has a half-brother, Bill Marshall of San Francisco, who is a commercial photographer.

At the age of 13, Cristina became involved with a Little Theater group and decided on a career in the field of writing. Plays she has written include the current production of "Rumpelstiltskin" at the Festival Theatre in San Anselmo; an adaptation of "Peter and the Wolf" in mime and "Thumbykin." She also originated "The Enchanted Journey."

"Why do adults write down to kids?" queried Miss White. "We betray the children when we give them theater that is merely cute and coy. This cast shares my point of view about the importance of theater to children," she said as she reflected on her life thus far.

The cast includes six characters, four men and two women. "Once I begin directing, the production becomes a 24 hour a day job and I love it," said the talented returnee to the Bay Area from New York. She will live in San Anselmo for the summer with future plans indefinite at the moment. She is sure, however, of the play's success for its run through Aug. 31.

To back up the production, Mark Bucci, writer of musical scores, heard a first reading of "Rumpelstiltskin" and offered to create a new musical score for the work. He is in Marin, having come from New York, to work in collaboration with Elizabeth Berryhill on another play to be presented by the group this fall. It is entitled "I Wish I Were a Trumpet" and is a new mixed-media play with music.

"We want the children to experience as much wonder and delight as we can create," said Miss White who remembers her audience and their needs. "Never can we afford to be condescending," she concluded.

ART REVIEW

American Watercolorists' Show Replete With Outstanding Work

By LAURA DEVENDORF

SAN FRANCISCO — For the modest sum of one dollar (students 50 cents), the exhibit of eight American masters of watercolor at the M. H. DeYoung Museum in Golden Gate Park can provide a stimulating experience worth much more.

Continuing through Aug. 18, the show, which was assembled from museums and collections throughout the country, covers watercolor's greats from the late 1800s until today.

The artists it includes are Winslow Homer, John Singer Sargent, Andrew Wyeth, Maurice Pendergast, John Marin, Charles Demuth, Charles Burchfield and Arthur Dave.

Unlike some shows where the work is not compatible with the artists' reputations, this exhibit is thick with fine, often familiar, examples. Homer's "After the Tornado: Bahamas," with its man and boat lying spent and broken on the beach, and "The Adirondak Guide" in his boat deep in mountain forest, are two well-known works. In the original, they illustrate Homer's mastery of the medium plus his sensitivity to the people and locations he conveyed, to a degree only guessed in reproductions.

To most, Sargent's portraits and Pendergast's oils are more familiar. In watercolor, Sargent is washy and often very free, depicting everything from figures to alligators and architecture to wash hanging on the line. Pendergast, however, uses the same busy, splotchy treatment found in his oils, crowding his street scenes and holiday gatherings with the same activity.

Demuth's thin, fragile still lifes and Arthur Dove's small, abstracted landscapes explore medium further. And while Marin's representation isn't as satisfying as it might be, it does include enough to be descriptive of his style.

Of the eight, Burchfield is the most disturbing. The bleak, forlorn and decayed, are subjects he treats with a sinister sense of hopelessness.

All these men have been justifiably noted. But if ever an artist lived up to his reputation it is Wyeth. The man is phenomenal. Working drooling wet, or dry to the point of hairline detail, he gets the most exciting textural variations from the medium imaginable. "Coon Dog" is a perfect example with its dazzling system of drips, wipes, sponging, wet and dry brush, drawings and more.

Wyeth is a draftsman with an infallible eye for detail. He can be as meticulous, as the individual snowflakes falling on wet, weatherbeaten farmhouses, or he can be the master of omission. "Benjamin's House" is no more than a small blackened window in a cracked cement wall which rises from a like-toned foreground of dirty, branch-traced snow.

His technique is as washy and windswept as the dunes in "Island Beacon," or as painfully exacting as the study of an old, thin Negro asleep on a patchwork quilt in a decaying "Garret Room."

In other words, while Wyeth is never less than a brilliant craftsman whose selections are flawlessly appropriate, he is much, much more. The man is eloquent.

Cassius Clay Listed Boxer, Not Minister

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says Cassius Clay told his draft board he was a professional boxer—not a minister—and Supreme Court review of his conviction on refusing military service should be turned down.

The former world heavyweight champion, who prefers to be called Muhammad Ali, has asked the court to overturn the conviction and a five-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine.

Clay seeks a ministerial exemption or conscientious objector status based on his beliefs as a member of the Black Muslim faith. He is free on $5,000 bond.

But the Justice Department, in a brief, said Clay consistently listed his occupation on Selective Service forms and questionnaires with terms such as "professional boxer" and "heavyweight champion of the world."

Marine Art

WHICH STREET?

Paradise's Teaberry Tempest

Confusion is living on a street with three names — and about 16 Marin residents are definitely confused.

They live on a road above the U.S. Naval Net Depot on the outskirts of Tiburon. Some have Tredogo Road addresses; others use Paradise Drive numbers. The new sign at the corner says Teaberry Lane.

The official name, approved in mid-July by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, was Teaberry Lane. Hence the sign, donated by the Tiburon Fire Protection District which wanted a standard name with logical numbers.

Some residents weren't happy with the new name and a convenient loophole was soon discovered — the clerk of the board of supervisors did not post the required three public notices in Tredogo Road.

To take care of the oversight, the supervisors will rehear the entire matter on Aug. 27. If the renaming is again approved, it would become effective Sept. 26. John C. Hau of the county planning department reported.

Fire Chief Franklin J. Buscher, who started the whole thing to smooth out finding emergency calls to the area, said an earlier survey of residents showed some in favor of each name.

He said about four or five of the residents have Tregodo Road addresses; the others Paradise Drive, even though neither their front nor back property touches Paradise.

The planning department has apologized for "this inconvenience and delay which to most may appear an inconsequential triviality."

State Seeks Bids On 101 Widening

Bids on the $1.8 million project to widen 2.1 miles of Highway 101 from San Quentin Wye to Manuel Freitas Parkway have been called by the California Division of Highways.

Work includes widening from four lanes to six to provide three lanes of traffic in each direction; construction of ramps at Mission Avenue and North San Pedro Road; widening the Lincoln Avenue undercrossing; and construction of a pedestrian overcrossing.

Bids will be opened Sept. 11 in Sacramento and work is expected to be completed in the late summer of 1969.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Scubba Dubba' Has Rampant Laughter

By GARY TISCHLER

On the program, they call "Scubba Dubba," a tense comedy. Back in the days when its author Bruce Jay Friedman was writing novels, they would have called it black humor.

Call it what you will, the official opening of "Scubba Dubba" at the Alcazar on Broadway Theater amounted to an unnerving evening of the kind of rampant laughter that hangs on the edge of a serious scream.

Harold's wife has run off with a Negro scuba diver, whom Harold calls scubba dubba. As a result, Harold is about to go under. He sees black in spades, and he cannot see beyond that.

Friedman's approach to satire in this play is a little dangerous. It is a broad, scattergun attack on many targets, some of which are obvious patsies, such as domineering mothers, psychiatry, loud-mouthed American tourists, the hostile French, and sexy screwballs.

The play bordered dangerously on parody and burlesque threatening to destroy the inherent seriousness.

Harold, after all, is in some ways, a very loveable character. He is a slob, a billboard artist who walks around in a genuinely crummy bathrobe, does funny imitations of W. C. Fields and James Cagney, a warm kind of schlemiel who is a bundle of nerves.

Sal Dano, who is a marvelous mugger and mime, never quite indulges himself in hammishness. Harold, the bleeding stumbler, is always just around the corner, wounded, ignorant, and confused. It is a performance that holds the play together, turns it chillingly human in all its wonderfully obscene laughter.

Something is not quite right with Marlain Kallevig's performance as the sexy girl next door to Harold's French chateau. She is a doll, she fills out a bikini nicely, but most of her work seems affected, forced and unreal.

John Saunders, Jr., almost steals the show as Foxtrot the scuba-diver, a Negro who delights in the nigger-puton, bebopping and jiving through his scene like a jumping jack.

The smaller parts are all in the hands of veteran actors. Janet Brandt contributes a sniffling-sad bit as the owner of the chateau. George Ede, red-faced and stuffy, whom Marin theatergoers may remember from last year's Marin Shakespeare Festival, contributes a classic interpretation of the blustering American tourist. Allan Gruner makes a chilling, over-enunciating phychiatrist and Liz Renay is wildly funny as his over-sexed friend.

One minor objection: the play uses a device of trotting out cardboard presentations of off-stage characters, such as Harold's mother and his wife's old boyfriends. The device adds nothing to the play and is distracting.

Yes, there are plenty of four-letter words, including THE four-letter word, and there is a topless scene, for which the play has garnered considerable fame on Broadway.

Strep Infections Top Disease List

An outbreak of streptoccocus infections in Novato accounted for the largest number of communicable diseases reported in Marin County last week. Thirty cases of strep infection were noted in Novato, with 19 more in other areas of the county.

A total of 12 cases of gonorrhea were reported to Marin County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht, with three in Sausalito and three in San Rafael and the others scattered.

There were also 10 cases of mumps, one of mumps encephalitis, three of infectious hepatitis and one of salmonella.

Youth Booked In Auto Theft

A 16-year-old Mill Valley youth was booked at Marin Juvenile Hall Sunday for grand theft of an auto and receiving or concealing stolen property, after a sheriff's officer noticed a 1967 Ford Mustang parked in the garage of his home. The license and description matched those of an auto reported stolen in Sausalito Saturday.

The youth was released Monday to the custody of his father, according to juvenile authorities.

Hoffa Friend Loses Senate Re-Election Bid

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Edward V. Long has been defeated in a hotly contested race for Missouri's Democratic senatorial nomination by Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton.

Eagleton maintained a near 20,000-vote lead over Long with a scattering of rural precincts uncounted. True Davis of St. Joseph, a former ambassaor to Switzerland, ran third.

Life magazine said in May 1967 Long misused his Senate Judiciary subcommittee probe of eavesdropping and wiretapping in an effort to help James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, who is now in prison.

TWO PROBES

The Senate Ethics Committee, after a four-month investigation into that and other charges, ruled there was no wrong-doing on Long's part. The committee later reopened its inquiry and has issued no new report.

Long called the charges a "dead issue" and a political smear.

The Missouri upset highlighted four primaries around the country in which Rep. Bob Dale won the GOP senatorial nomination in Kansas, Sen. Frank Church was unopposed in Idaho and all 19 Michigan congressmen won renomination.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis won the GOP senatorial nomination in Missouri.

Missouri Democratic Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence K. Roos, a Republican, had only token opposition for the state chief executive nominations.

KANSAS CONTEST

In Kansas, Dole defeated former Gov. William H. Avery for the Republican nomination for the seat being vacated by retiring Sen. Frank Carlson, a Republican.

Democratic Gov. Robert Docking was unopposed for renomination. Rick Harman, a businessman and former college basketball star, was the GOP gubernatorial winner.

In Idaho, both Church, a leading Senate critic of U.S. Vietnam policy, and Republican Rep. George Hansen were unopposed for nominations to face each other in the Senate race.

Idaho legislator Orval Hansen won the GOP nomination to compete for George Hansen's congressional seat in the primary's contested race. The two Hansens are not related.

In a Michigan primary that drew little interest for lack of contests, Democratic Rep. John Conyers Jr. had no opposition in either party and was assured re-election.

Waiters' Tips Earn New Status

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —When you tip a waiter while taking a meal in a restaurant, it's a gift to him.

When you tip a waiter in a flat charge for a pre-arranged banquet, it's an earned wage for him.

That was the state Unemployment Insurance Appeal Board's ruling yesterday in the case of Robert Soljack, a former waiter at Los Angeles' Statler-Hilton Hotel, who applied for unemployment insurance.

The panel concluded that at banquets, the patron has no choice over the amount of a tip and the waiter has agreed in advance how much his services are worth.

In the past all tips were considered gifts, which meant they could not be counted as earnings when applying for unemployment insurance benefits.

Jail Riot Halted By Reno Deputies

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Police and sheriff's deputies quelled a riot in one dormitory on the top floor of the Washoe County Jail last night, but not before inmates tore out the plumbing, ripped bedding and demolished a television set.

All 24 inmates of the dormitory on the third floor were charged with destruction of county property. There are about 60 men on the floor and the entire jail holds 155.

Officers used a few cannisters of tear gas. No injuries were reported.

Novato Volunteers Plan Park Site Improvements

The Novato Civic Foundation will start the construction of Pioneer Memorial Park with volunteer work later this month.

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission approved plans for the work Monday as presented by Edwin Grundstrom, foundation president.

The plans will be presented to the Novato City Council at a special meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Grundstrom told the commission that five contractors who belong to the North Bay Chapter of Engineering and Grading Contractors Association are willing to donate somewhere between $18,000 and $22,000 in grading to get the work started on the park.

This will cost the foundation about $5,000 in cash, Grundstrom said. The Novato Kiwanis Club yesterday gave the foundation $1,000 toward the work. The Novato Hostess Club has pledged $1,500, he said. The work is expected to be done between Aug. 17 and 24 he said.

Parks and Recreation Director Edward W. Adams reported that there was an increase of 6,749 from 53,608 to 60,357 in attendance in July of this year over July of last year in hhe summer recreation programs.

Beer Thief Only

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) —A burglar, described by police as a thirsty "soft liquor man," hauled away 14 cases of beer from a tavern but didn't touch the whisky supply.

Tiburon Sanitary Board Seeks Site At Paradise Cove

The Tiburon Sanitary District Board Monday directed the district's attorney to negotiate with developers of the Paradise Cove subdivision to obtain a site for the district's second treatment plant.

Directors hope to secure a grant deed from the developers for one acre of land near the former U.S. Naval Net Depot, Chairman Francis J. Ryan reported.

The new plant, estimated to cost approximately $46,000 will supplement the district's main plant located on Paradise Drive at Mar West Street, Ryan said.

The next meeting of the board will be at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 3, not Sept. 2 as orginally scheduled, because of the Labor Day holiday. The board will meet in the district offices, 2001 Paradise Drive.

$2 Million In Ford Civil Rights Gifts

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ford Foundation is giving $2 million for civil rights projects, with large grants going to Detroit and Cleveland.

The foundation announced yesterday that Cleveland would receive more than $550,000 in two grants. The larger, for $300,000, goes to the Congress of Racial Equality to help it conduct voter registration campaigns in the predominantly Negro 21st Congressional District.

The city's Greater Cleveland Association Foundation will receive $256,615 to help Mayor Carl B. Stokes deal with urban and racial problems.

CORE is also expected to develop a youth training program for street gang leaders and to foster economic development in the "ghettos," the foundation said in a statement.

In Detroit, $357,500 was authorized for the Metropolitan Fund, which will conduct programs aimed at bringing Negroes and whites together. The grant will help produce television programs on racial problems and open "suburban action centers."

The foundation also awarded the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People $378,000, the National Urban League $400,000 and the A. Philip Randolph Educational Fund $176,000.

In other grants, the foundation gave the Smithsonian institution in Washington, D.C. $31,000 for pictures and exhibits on the Poor People's Campaign, $65,000 to the Southern Education Conference for the "Southern Courier," a weekly newspaper, and $25,900 to the Washington Center for Metropolitan Studies for an analysis of the impact of poor people on anti-poverty programs.

Freed Pilots' Escort Expects New Releases

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — North Vietnam will release more captured American pilots, a woman who just returned from Hanoi with three U.S. fliers predicted yesterday.

Mrs. Anne Scheer, 26, Berkeley, one of three Americans who spent a month in the North Vietnamese capital helping arrange the pilot's release, told a news conference she was confident more fliers would be freed.

She said the release of the three airmen was a "gesture to the American people."

"The main reason we were involved is that North Vietnam wanted the men returned to the United States on a civilian plane, rather than on a military plane," she said. "They wanted the men to be able to talk to newsmen before the military got control of them again."

The pilots arrived in New York Sunday night aboard a commercial airliner. They were Maj. James Frederick Low, 43, Sausalito; Maj. Fred Neal Thompson, 32, Taylors, N.C.; and Capt. Joe Victor Carpenter, 37, Ignacio.

Mrs. Scheer said the men told her they were probably selected by Hanoi for release by "some sort of lottery system."

"But they are not hard-liners. They didn't spit in the faces of their captors, and that might have had something to do with it."

Mrs. Scheer said the pilots expressed "confusion" about the U.S. war effort, "they didn't take my position," said the outspoken opponent of the Vietnam war. "But they didn't express any enthusiasm for it either. They certainly didn't denounce the war."

Street Fairs Turned Down In Berkeley

BERKELEY (AP) — The Berkeley City Council, after an all-day hearing yesterday, rejected a proposal to close Telegraph Avenue for a series of street fairs.

A group called the Berkeley Commune had petitioned the council to close the street between 8 p.m. and midnight for four consecutive Saturdays beginning this Saturday.

Councilman W. T. Brown, as a crowd of 400 jammed the chambers, offered a compromise motion that the avenue be closed on Aug. 10 and Aug. 17 from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. "too see what happens." It was voted down 4-3.

The Commune said it wanted to hold a street dance called "the Celebration of Life."

Most of the audience were old people who said they paid the taxes and didn't want the streets closed.

"You begin by closing the streets and then it's the city and maybe then the whole world," warned Marvin Calvert, who said he represented "a large group" of upset citizens.

"And that's not all," he added. "It contributes to the breakdown of law and order. Every law in the book was broken when the street was closed July 4."

FIRST RUN—Preparing for the first public flight in Santa Rosa on May 8, 1910, builders of the "kite with an engine" put the finishing touches on their original aircraft.

First Air Mail Flight From Petaluma

A Santa Rosa man, who gave up flying in 1911 because there was no money in it for him, will be remembered this month at a dedication ceremony in Petaluma's Kenilworth Park.

Fred J. Wiseman, who made the world's first airmail flight on Feb. 17, 1911, will be honored for that feat at the site from which he began the historic jaunt in his hand-crafted "kite with an engine."

Wiseman's plane is now stored at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. Aviation "earlybirds," Bay Area fly-in groups, Hamilton Air Force representatives and post office officials will join Petaluma and Santa Rosa Aug. 17 at 3 p.m. in the plaque dedication ceremony.

The event will kick off the two-day Petaluma Old Adobe Fiesta and will be part of the summer-long centennial celebration in Santa Rosa.

Before his death in 1961, the 85-year-old pioneer aviator and race car enthusiast collected a personal scrapbook of news clippings and photographs, from which his story is retold here.

The focal point of the Wiseman story is, of course, that first airmail flight. But his early years were marked with transportation records. Setting a mark that is hard to equal today, he traveled by car from Oakland to San Francisco in two hours, nine minutes and 18 seconds — by way of San Jose.

FRED J. WISEMAN
In 1911

That was on May 16, 1909. He started building his first plane in 1910.

"There was a bunch of us, machinists and auto racers mostly, who took it up for the money," he told a reporter at his Berkeley home 16 years ago.

"I was back in Chicago, getting my Stoddard-Dayton ready to race in the Crown Point auto races. (A news clipping in his scrapbook carries the headline, "Wiseman Wins at Crown Point".)

For Wiseman, taking up flying was purely commercial. "There was no money in auto races, so we came home to Santa Rosa to build a plane."

A Santa Rosa butcher put up $10,000 and he and some friends set up a tent on the outskirts of Petaluma and got right to work.

The total weight of that first plane, copied from photographs of the Wright Brothers famous first, was 670 pounds, and its construction was described as "similar to the network of wires one finds in a piano."

Wiseman recalled his early flights this way: "The thing I remember most was looking down and seeing everything running — cows, sheep, rabbits, dogs — all scared to death of this thing 40 or 50 feet above them."

He got his first taste of flying money in the Tanforan Air Meet of 1911, where he won $4,000 in competition with some of the day's best flying aces. There were less than 100 Americans qualified to fly in that year.

Wiseman didn't know he was making history the day he took off from Petaluma for Santa Rosa on the world's first authorized public mail flight. In fact, proof that it was the first didn't come until 1952 when one of the transported letters was found in the safety deposit box in Santa Rosa. Airmail history was not recorded until after World War II.

The letter was written by the mayor of Petaluma inviting Santa Rosa city officials to an industrial and food exposition. On the heading was written, "Aviation Field, Santa Rosa and Petaluma Aero Navigation Co. Trip No. 1."

The trip took two days. He was forced down about four miles north of Petaluma and completed his journey the next day.

Wiseman wrote in his later years that he gave up flying in 1911 because the stunt men had taken over and "they didn't live very long." For about a year there was money merely in being able to fly, he said.

At the age of 74, Wiseman gave this account of why he quit flying: "That year, 1911, was flying's big year. By the end of that year, a passenger had been carried, a target had been bombed, radio communication had been made with a plane in flight, and a landing had been made on a battleship.

"The airplane had showed what it could do. In order to make any money you had to do stunts. I'm no stunt man, so I gave it up."

Woman Dies After Truck Strikes Tree

Alice Sieber, 66, of the Bothin Youth Center, was killed yesterday when a pickup truck smashed into a tree near Fairfax.

Her husband, Edward Sieber Jr., 68, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with multiple fractures and a scalp cut.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident occurred at 3:15 p.m. as Sieber started to drive out the driveway at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Cervantes Jr., on Sir Francis Drake Boulvard west of Fairfax.

The truck hit a brick wall, bounced off a corner of the house and hit the tree head-on. A witness said Sieber apparently accidentally hit the throttle instead of the brake before the truck hit the tree.

Mrs. Sieber was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. Pending an autopsy, Assistant Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine attributed death to a possible broken neck.

Mrs. Sieber, a native of The Netherlands, was the 21st traffic fatality in Marin this year. There were 20 traffic deaths at this time last year.

Sausalito's Gun Ordinance Hangs In Political Limbo

By MARION DIETRICH

Sausalito's gun registration ordinance — adopted July 16 to take effect if the Legislature adjourned without enacting a gun control measure — is temporarily occupying a kind of political limbo.

The Legislature adjourned Saturday on executive decree of Acting Gov. Hugh M. Burns, but the Assembly convened anyway this week under a legal cloud.

It appeared certain that the Legislature would take no action on gun controls this session. Sausalito City Atty. Leland H. Jordan said today the city's ordinance would take effect the day after it is determined the Legislature has indeed finally adjourned. Yesterday, Assembly Republicans defied Speaker Jesse M. Unruh and headed home, despite his extending the session.

The ordinance would require residents to register firearms within 60 days after the ordinance becomes effective.

Penalty for violation would be up to six months in jail or a fine up to $500.

The ordinance also provides that a firearm must be registered within 48 hours of being brought into the city.

In writing the ordinance Jordan said, "I tried to avoid the shortcomings of the San Francisco and Marin County gun control laws.

"I have serious questions about some of the provisions in those ordinances. Both say it is illegal for anyone to possess a firearm that is not registered, this making them permit ordinances because they give police the power to revoke registration.

"In the Sausalito ordinance there is no power to revoke registration.

"I believe the San Francisco and Marin County ordinances may have gone beyond the jurisdictions set up by the state and risk being invalid.

"But no one is going to know which ordinances are valid until they are tested in court."

Sausalito Police Chief Edward S. Kreins, upon hearing the local ordinance may soon be in effect, said, "If it's an ordinance we will enforce it."

Kreins, who said he had already made his point to the city council, remarked he still agreed with the Marin County Police Chiefs Association which opposed local registration of weapons and supported gun registration on a state or federal level and was for legislation banning mail order sales.

"As far as one city having gun registration, the effect will be nil and registering these weapons will put an extreme burden on our manpower," the chief said.

Councilman Alexander R. Imlay, who introduced the ordinance, commented, "I certainly hoped the state would take action. I hoped we would have more active participation from other cities in Marin County.

"I'm sorry it was necessary for the city to act alone in this matter, but this is a necessary piece of legislation to protect the public."

The council has received letters against gun control from the Marin Rod and Gun Club and the Irate Taxpayers of Marin.

Albert Domergue, life member of both the National Rifle Association and California Rifle and Pistol Association who opposed the ordinance at a city council meeting July 16, said today, "It doesn't accomplish anything if the rest of the state has no gun registration law.

Five Accused Of Nude Swimming

Warm midsummer weather and the sylvan setting of Mill Valley's Cascade Reservoir yesterday combined to be the undoing of five persons arrested by Mill Valley police for allegedly swimming nude in the reservoir.

Booked into Marn County Jail for investigation of indecent exposure were Donald Sidney Fryer, 33, of San Francisco and Michael Dennis Reid, 21, of 38 Mountain View Avenue, Mill Valley. Bail was set at $625 each.

Three juvniles, a 17-year-old girl and a 15-year-old boy, both from Greenbrae, and a 16-year-old boy from Kentfield, were cited and released to the custody of their parents.

Police said that on a routine check of the reservoir area at 4:35 p.m. yesterday officers noticed Fryer sitting nude on the reservoir wall with a group of 20 other persons, all clothed, and Reid and the three juveniles swimming in the nude in the reservoir.

Bay Report Is Topic

The City-County Planning Council will discuss the preliminary report of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Room 400 of the Marin County Civic Center.

Donation Of Graders For Memorial Park

Five Marin contractors have agreed to donate the use of graders at Pioneer Memorial Park in Novato, a grateful city council learned last night at a special meeting. (Another story, page 17.)

Edwin Grundstrom, president of the Novato Civic Foundation, said the North Bay Division of the Engineering and Grading Contractors Association agreed to donate approximtely $20,000 in equipment use and engineering time for the work, which will be done Aug. 17-24.

This will be the first phase of the park development, and will be north of the cemetary.

Grundstrom said the foundation must pay the grader operators some $5,000, and that the Novato Kiwanis Club had given $1,000 toward the project, and the Novato Hostess Club had pledged $1,500. The foundation and other civic organizations will pay the rest, so the only cost to the city will be to place grading stakes, he said.

The contractors are Ghilotti Brothers, Merz Brothers, Maggiora and Ghilotti, A. J. Bresnan and Co., and Soiland Co. Inc.

They will provide their own engineers to see the work follows the plans drawn for the city by landscape architects Ribera and Sue, said Grundstrom.

Grundstrom said foundation volunteers will provide the workers with refreshments and food.

After a 20-minute closed meeting, the council decided to wait until it had a full council Tuesday before filling the term of Herbert Gordon on the planning commission. Mayor Harley McAskill asked for volunteers to replace Gordon, who resigned.

The council reappointed the five members to the building codes advisory commission: Carl S. Brown, Robert W. Copple, Harry W. Locke, Herman H. Spaeth and J. Dietrich Stroeh.

Hitchhikers Rob Two Marin Men

Two men were robbed of $24 at gunpoint in Marin City early today by hitchhikers they picked up in San Francisco an hour earlier, sheriff's deputies said.

Frank Watts Davis of 43 Bell Avenue, Fairfax, and Raymond Frederick Osborne of 375 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, said they drove the men from Lombard Street in San Francisco to the 600 block of Drake Avenue, Marin City.

When they stopped the car, one of the hitchhikers, both Negroes, drew a pistol and demanded their money, deputies said.

Merchants Seek Postal Branch

The Novato Downtown Merchants Association last night requested that the post office open a substation on Grant Avenue, according to its president, Ben F. Edwards.

Postmaster Harry Overly must obtain permission from the regional office in San Francisco and then call for bids for the substation before it can be opened, Edwards said.

The Grant Avenue area has been without easy access to the post office since it was moved to the Nave Shopping Center.

Window Smashed

Fire Captain Taken Off Critical List

Novato fire captain Richard Beyer who was critically burned in a brush and grass fire on July 19, has been taken off the critical list, and today underwent first surgery for burns, according to Novato Fire Chief George Cavallero.

Beyer has been in the intensive care unit and in isolation at Marin General Hospital since he received burns over 30 per cent of his body in the fire, Cavallero said.

Although he cannot hold cards and letters, he appreciates them as others read them to him, the chief said His spirit is good, although he has suffered a lot of pain. The number of visitors he may have is limited, according to the chief, who said it is expected Beyer would be in the hospital for another two to three months.

Robbery Attack Injures Youth

A 20-yearold San Rafael youth was treated for cuts and bruises at Novato General Hospital Sunday night after four youths attacked and tried to rob him at Burge's Drive-In restaurant in Ignacio, sheriff's deputies said today.

Robert H. Grimmer, of 320 C Street, San Rafael, told deputies he was walking to his car at 10:15 p.m. when four men, aged 17 and 18, attacked him with a club, fists and their feet.

They demanded his wallet, he said, but fled without money when another car drove into the parking lot area, according to officers.

Larkspur Library Report Upcoming

The annual report by Helen S. Wilson, Larkspur librarian, will be mailed this week to library board members, she said at yesterday's regular meeting.

The report, to include statistics on the number of new books added to the library, books checked out, and a number of card holders, was incomplete for a scheduled presentation yesterday, she added.

Donald Greenfield, board member and chairman of a committee studying possible sites for constructing a new library building, reported no site has yet been found, Mrs. Wilson said.

$250 Million Schools Bond On Nov. 5 Ballot

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California voters will decide in November on a $250 million education construction bond which if passed will push the amount of such spending approved since 1964 past the $1 billion mark.

The bond's place on the ballot was assured when Gov. Ronald Reagan signed the authorizing legislation by Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento. The governor signed the bill before he left for the Republican National Convention, but his office has not announced the action. However, legislative aide Vernon Sturgeon confirmed the signing yesterday.

The bond totals $250 million. It started out as a $300 million proposal, but the Assembly cut down the size. It now would provide $200 million to build new facilities at the expanding state colleges and University of California, and $50 million to replace local elementary and high school buildings constructed before 1943.

Assemblymen wrote in provisions that will limit the money for the local school aid to big cities, particularly the slum areas where many schools are of prewar vintage, as opposed to the newer ones in suburbia.

Reagan Signs Guidelines For Organ Transplanting

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The legal and ethical haze around California laws dealing with human organ transplants is intended to be cleared up under legislation signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The governor's office announced yesterday that he had signed the bill by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, before going to the Republican National Convention.

Testimony before the legislature was that current laws governing the shift of human organs from one person to another are fragmentary and unsuited to guide the increasing number of such operations, especially heart transplants.

In that area, Beilenson's bill provides that a general guideline for determining official death is that it comes when the heart stops beating.

He said the key part of the bill — which is labled the "Anatomical Gift Act" — puts the burden of deciding when the organ donor dies on his or her personal physician.

Under the new law, the personal doctor cannot be a member of a transplant team, and no member of the team can officially declare the potential donor dead.

The bill also bars physicians from performing a transplant if the person whose organ they would take has been known to oppose such operations.

In cases in which a person who might donate an organ is unable to be consulted, his or her spouse, adult child or parent could give official permission for a transplant operation.

Beilenson had said during the bill's legislative course that the measure would give legal recognition to transplant operations as such, and also give doctors legal backing if their work on transplants is challenged.

The new law will take effect this fall after the usual 90-day waiting period following legislative adjournment.

Canadian Indians cross United States borders under an old law assuring them free access as native North Americans, the National Geographic says.

More Variances On Ross Agenda

Last month the council granted 10 such variances. The town adopted an ordinance in 1962 making multiple residential use of property illegal after Feb. 10, 1968.

The council will also consider an ordinance which would provide for correction of defective driveways or culverts at the expense of property owners.

Showdown Meeting On Montreal Baseball

MONTREAL (AP) — Warren Giles, president of the National League and John McHale, administrator in the Baseball Commissioner's office, arrived today for a showdown meeting on this city's new baseball franchise.

A spokesman for Charles Bronfman, one of the financial backers of Montreal's National League franchise, said that Giles and McHale were scheduled to meet with city officials.

The spokesman added that the two baseball officials may also meet with the team's financial backers.

Last night, WGN broadcasting in Chicago said it had learned Montreal would lose its franchise because of financial difficulties. This was denied by John Newman, one of the club's backers.

Both Montreal and San Diego, the two new teams in the National League, have been given until Aug. 15 to make first payments of $1,120,000 to the league for their franchise. However, The Associated Press learned that a final decision on Montreal may be reached by tonight.

The mayor's office here was expected to issue a statement later today, but officials would not say whether it would deal with baseball.

Milwaukee and Buffalo are both seeking the franchise if Montreal surrenders it.

One of the chief problems in Montreal has been the financing of a dome for a temporary stadium. Original plans called for an expenditure of $2 million but this was later increased to $5 million. Some observers here feel that the cost could reach $10 million.

Plans for the temporary stadium—the Autostade—also include increasing the seating capacity to 37,500.

Montreal and San Diego were awarded franchises in an expansion move last spring and the Montreal choice came as a big surprise to baseball.

At the time, however, Giles maintained that the financial framework for eventually increasing the capacity and doming the stadium was all set.

Meanwhile, there have been recurring reports that the Montreal citizenry has not gone overboard for a major league franchise.

Buffalo once was considered a prime target but currently the Erie County legislature is having difficulty in deciding where to build a new sports stadium.

Deadlocked for several weeks, the legislators split 10-10 yesterday on a recommendation that the stadium be constructed in downtown Buffalo. The effect of the vote was to table the proposal. The legislature will not meet again until Sept. 3.

Milwaukee, which has been supporting a smattering of Chicago White Sox home games this season, again is a strong contender for the franchise should Montreal turn up a loser.

Giant Rookie Bonds Helps Perry Get Some Support

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Giants' rookie Bobby Bonds took over in center field for Willie Mays but the Philadelphia Phillies hardly noticed the difference.

Bonds, being groomed to replace Mays permanently some day, tripled and scored the first run last night, then scored the go-ahead run in an eight-inning rally that gave San Francisco a 4-1 victory.

Though Mays was resting, he was very much in the game according to Bonds, who credits Willie's help from the bullpen bench as a factor in making him feel at home in center field.

"I didn't know how to play the hitters with Gaylord Perry pitching because I'd never played when he faced the Phillies before," explained Bonds. "So I'd keep listening for Willie in the bullpen.

"When Mays is in center and I'm in right," Bonds continued, "he'll tell me where to play batters and where to throw. I had to listen harder this time but I could still hear him in the bullpen."

Bonds tripled to open the first inning and scored on catcher Mike Ryan's two-out passed ball. "I saw Richie Allen playing with the ball in the left field corner," Bonds said, "and I figured I could make it to third."

Loser Larry Jackson, 10-14, didn't allow another hit until the Giants bunched their four remaining singles for three runs in the eighth inning.

Perry, 10-10, allowed only three singles in the briskly played contest. John Callison's walk, Allen's sacrifice and Bill White's single made it 1-1 in the seventh.

"I was sure glad to see the eighth inning," said Perry, usually a victim of poor support. "I was throwing real hard. My fastball and sinker were working real well."

JACK HANLEY

Everybody Wants To Hit Homers, Even Dodgers

What team is being described in this quote? "The boys take batting practice for 40 minutes. They begin with their traditional bunts and then they seem to say to themselves: 'Okay, let's hit it into the stands.' "

No, it isn't the Giants although the Giants have been so described. Walter O'Malley made the quote about his Dodgers of 1968 as he watched them in batting practice during the recent series down south with the Giants.

"Guys who go for the fences only hurt their batting averages," said O'Malley. "Our batters have got to learn to spray the ball. That's what the Cardinals do and that's why they have made a runaway of this year's race."

They Aren't Supposed To Dig In

The owner of the Dodgers declared he had talked with Walter Alston and the team coaches about counseling Dodger players not to dig in at the plate.

"But they go on doing it and Alston is damned sore about it," said O'Malley. "We need a batting coach the fellows will respect. We need a coach who can sell the idea that you can get more hits out of a big bat than you can with those toothpicks that break off in your hands.

"Stan Musial preached the gospel of the single to the Cardinals when they brought him back as general manager last year. I see Musial as being very important in the resurgence of the Cardinals.

Even Cepeda Isn't Overswinging

"Alston says the Cardinals had only one player who was overswinging in our last series with them. That was Mike Shannon. Even Orlando Cepeda isn't doing it anymore.

"Ninety per cent of the hits today fall in front of the outfielders and 60 per cent of them are ground balls. You would think the boys would learn enough from that just to try and meet the ball instead of trying to assassinate it.

"The bats are the personal privilege of the players. We furnish the uniform but we can't build any power into it for them. If I had my say about bats, I'd go back to the wagon tongue for Ron Fairly and get away from the splinter."

Matty Using Heavier Bat

During the just concluded Giant-Pirate series in Candlestick Park, Matty Alou disclosed that he now is using a bat five ounces heavier than the one he used before the Giants traded him to the Pirates.

"I used to try to pull everything," said Alou who became the National League batting champion with a .342 average in 1966. "The heavier bat helped me to wait longer. With the lighter bat I used to be out in front of the ball."

Matty hit .231 in 1965, his last year with the Giants, using a 33 ounce splinter. He is headed for his second batting title this year with a 38 ounce bat. He subscribes to everything O'Malley had to say about hitting.

Griffith Hoping For Nino

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Former welterweight and middleweight champion Emile Griffith, fresh from his victory over previously unbeaten Gypsy Joe Harris, doesn't see how Nino Benvenuti can avoid fighting him again for the middleweight title.

Griffith said his 12-round unanimous decision last night over the flashy Gypsy in a record indoor gate fight here, eliminated all contenders for the Italian's crown.

A Spectrum crowd of 13,875 paid $118,389 to watch the Virgin Islands native overcome Harris's speed in the first four rounds and dominate the bout the rest of the way.

"If Benvenuti fights someone else, then he won't get the money he would get in a fight with me," Griffith said in his dressing room. Asked why Benvenuti would fight him again for the fourth time, the 30-year-old former champion said, "Money talks, look what it did tonight."

Griffith said he fought Harris to work his way up to fight the middleweight champ.

"With anyone else, Benvenuti will only make $20,000; with me, $175,000, like our last match in New York in March," Griffith said.

The fast-moving 23-year-old Harris, who had to shed 2¾ pounds at the weigh-in, said after his first defeat, his weight of 161 did not make him sluggish.

He said that "experience" beat him, not himself. He said he couldn't do what he did with non-contenders.

"After all, this is the first time I fought a champion," Harris said. "He didn't knock me out. I'm young, and I'll work myself back up."

LOMBARDI: NO INTEREST IN POLITICS

GREEN BAY, Wis (AP) — A smiling Vince Lombardi, obviously enjoying his special day-a salute to Vince Lombardi-said today he had "no interest in politics," although he had been approached.

"I don't think I could make a contribution," the Green Bay Packers' general manager said. "I'm too much of an idealist." Lombardi, who retired as coach earlier this year after leading the Packers to a record-tying three consecutive National Football League championships and two Super Bowl titles, said he has not been approached with another coaching offer since relinquishing the field position with the Packers. "Coaching is not a profession for has-beens," he said.

Jack Favored In Akron Golf

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Strongboy Jack Nicklaus looms as a solid favorite to snare his second straight tournament triumph when action starts tomorrow in the $125,000 American Golf Classic.

The Columbus belter ended a long drought last Sunday with an easy victory in the Western Open. It was his first tour success since last October.

Big Jack, who always appears at his best when the challenge is great, will be testing the rugged, 7,180-yard, par-70 Firestone Country Club layout, one of the finest courses in the country.

He'll also have to whip a strong field that includes slump-ridden but dangerous Arnold Palmer, the defending champion and the only two-time winner of the American Golf Classic.

Six Boys Triumph In Baseball Event

The Optimist Club of Novato has announced winners of its Personna Grand Slam Baseball competition, held Saturday in conjunction with the Novato Parks and Recreation Department.

Thirty-three boys participated in the running, batting and throwing competition. Winners were Bob Priolo, 8-year-old class; Lee Smith, 9; Bruce Stokes, 10; Jim Chakos, 11; Christopher Meany, 12; Kent Heyman, 13.

Clippers To Host San Diego Toros

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Clippers, winners of their last four North American Soccer League games, continue their pursuit of the San Diego Toros, leaders of the Pacific Division, when they meet Vancouver in the Oakland Colesium tonight at 8 o'clck.

The Clippers trail San Diego by 11 points and have six games left, two of them at home. The Toros have seven games remaining, five at home.

In their last four outings, the Clippers have scored a maximum of 36 points, six for winning each game and one for each of the first three goals scored.

Barring a total collapse by San Diego it will take continued high scoring by Oakland to overtake the Toros.

GLOBETROTTER MEN

Seals Have New Owners

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League, in trouble on the ice and at the gate last season, have undergone changes of ownership and players that they hope will improve their performance in both areas.

Potter Palmer of Chicago and John O'Neil Jr. of Miami, Fla., two of the team's owners, have joined with George Gillett of Chicago to buy control, they announced yesterday.

The three partners are already sole owners of the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team and also have an interest in the Atlanta Braves in baseball, the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League and the Atlanta Chiefs of the North American Soccer League.

Previously the Seals had nearly 50 stockholders from various cities and this led to management problems so great that the club nearly moved to Vancouver, Canada.

Only the opposition of NHL owners prevented this.

Palmer, O'Neil and Gillett say they are committed to staying in Oakland.

Earlier, the Seals appointed a new head coach, Fred Glover, and made two multi-player deals, one with the Montreal Canadiens, obtaining Norm Ferguson and Stan Fuller from the Stanley Cup winners and another with Detroit.

These moves were designed to improve a team that won only 15 games last season, finished last in the NHL's new expansion division and drew fewer than 6,000 fans per game, low for the league.

"We hope to bring our experience in operating sports franchises to the Oakland club in an effort to make big league hockey successful here," said Palmer.

Nolan Talks Of 49er Need For Linemen

GOLETA (UPI) — One ex-Dallas man likes the San Francisco 49ers' future, but another is not so sure.

He said yesterday that "the 49ers are as good as any team in the league."

The five-year veteran said "when I was with Dallas, we had more trouble with San Francisco's offensive line than with other teams."

He said "we need a first string tackle to replace (unsigned first-string starter Walter) Rock and backup depth on both the offensive and defensive lines."

Nolan did praise the defensive line of ends Stan Hindman and Clark Miller and tackles Roland Lakes and Charlie Krueger.

Diver To Try For Record

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

We Should Take Care Of That Windshield

If you have a multi-axially stretched, duo-curved, thermoplastically-platen-pressed, acrylic superstructure on your boat . . . do you know how to look after it?

You might have guessed halfway through that display of flossy words that we are talking about a plastic windshield, a very important part of a small runabout boat . . . and often the most abused thing on it.

PLASTIC WINDSHIELD HAS TOUGH BODY, TENDER SKIN. USE SUDS AND BARE HANDS.

This is especially true on boats that are trailered. At the end of a long haul, it's not unusual to find a windshield covered with dead bugs, dust, dirt, grit and gravel.

I just happened to be on hand recently to help launch such a boat when the skipper hauled a dirty rag out of the trunk of his car and, using it dry, started to scrub away the guck from the boat's windshield. He had taken about three seasons off its life before I could stop him and show him the scratches he had already caused.

THE SCRATCHES often are minute and not particularly noticeable if the light is coming from behind you. But sometimes, when you are heading into the sun, you'll find you are blinded by the reflection and refraction from the scratched and scuffed windshield.

Acrylic plastic, the material used in most boat windshields, may have a very tough body but it has a tender skin.

All this concern for windshields was brought on by a couple of odd questions I've been asked this summer:

Q. How do you wash a Plexi windshield?

A. Don't use a cloth. Use your bare hands to splash on water and detergent. They can feel any damaging grit or abrasive adhering to the plastic. Polish it up with a clean damp chamois or a very soft cloth. It's a good idea to keep a soft cloth just especially for the job in a plastic bag somewhere in the boat.

Q. I trailered a boat 1,870 miles. On the last 20-mile stretch, the windshield crumbled into pieces about the size of a dollar. What gives?

A. Two manufacturers of plastics tell me this just couldn't happen. (The only trouble is, it did.) Other "experts" believe it's due to internal stresses created in the plastic by the tightness of the frame. After a lot of vibration, the stresses just shatter the whole structure. Window ports in jet aircraft are replaced periodically because of the danger of this shattering, I'm told.

Q. The plastic "glass" portholes on my sailboat developed small cracks which are called "crazing." Why?

A. The same "experts" mentioned above think this is just a modification of the shattering phenomenon.

Q. Is it possible to stop cracks developing in plastic windshields?

A. Check the neoprene weatherstripping around the frame. If it becomes hardened, its cushion effect is lost and vibration will start cracks. If a crack should develop, it can be stopped by drilling a fine hole with a No. 40 or 50 drill at the tip of the fracture. The crack won't run any farther.

Q. Can I restore the "sparkle" to my windshield?

A. If it isn't too scratched, a thin coat of water emulsion wax (the stuff sold as "self-polishing") is a help. But if it has to be resurfaced, there is a very fine abrasive cloth sold for the job. One brand is called Polysand. Airlines use this fine abrasive cloth to restore clarity to their windows and windshields.

Q. Rain or spray on my windshield makes visibility very difficult even though I have the best car-type windshield wiper. The water droplets form beads. Any suggestions.

A. At night this bad visibility is deadly. I have installed a car-type windshield washer and I put a strong wetting agent in the washing solution. This stops the water droplets from "beading" and the wiper makes a clean sweep. You get good visibility for a few instants after every stroke of the blade. The wetting agent is the stuff used in photography to stop negatives drying streaky. But even strong household detergent is a wetting agent.

Q. Is there a right and wrong cleaner and wax for plastic?

A. The aircraft industry has done a lot more research on plastic "glass" than anyone else, and I use the material sold at airports for cleaning and polishing the windshields of light aircraft. If there is better stuff, I 'd like to know about it.

Raiders Cut Nine Players

SANTA ROSA (AP)—The Oakland Raiders, their roster lighter by nine players, pointed training today for their American Football League exhibition game Saturday night with the San Diego Chargers.

The Chargers defeated the National Football League San Francisco 49ers last week while the Raiders dropped a close game to the Baltimore Colts of the NFL.

Oakland Coach John Rauch said he was particuarly impressed with the work of rookie defensive back George Atkinson from Morris Brown College on the special teams against the Colts.

Rookies cut were Jim Todd, defensive end from Grambling; Artie Robinson, end from Florida A&M; Doug Ford, defensive back from Redlands; John Harper, guard from Adams State; Marv Hubbard, fullback from Colgate, and Lou Plantz, end from Colorado.

No Hurler's Year In Rec League

This is a pitcher's year in pro baseball, but not in the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department's adult softball league. Last night, for example, eight teams managed 104 runs in four games, three of which went six innings and the other seven.

The highlight of the evening was Miles Kaplan's three-run homer in the bottom of the sixth to climax a five-run inning and give the Northgaters a 12-11 win over Quality Meat Co.

Sarganis Shell outlasted Stan's Sport Shop 17-16, despite two homers and a triple, four runs scored and five runs batted in by Chuck Twichell. The other games were routs: Hub City Five and Four 19, St. Vincent's 6, and Carnation 19, Bud's Sporting Goods 4.

Matlin Wants A Guarantee

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — David Matlin, president of the AAU, said today athletes who make the U.S. Olympic team should br required to sign a declaration they will do nothing at the Mexico City games to embarrass this country.

Some Negro athletes have threatened to boycott the Olympics and also have said they might stage some form of protest in Mexico City.

"If a boy wants to boycott the Olympics, okay," Matlin said. "Boycott, and get out of the way. But if a boy makes the team, he should sign a declaration that he's ready to act as a representative of the United States.

"If he does anything to embarrass us as a team or a nation, he should be blacklisted for life. That's what I'd like to see done."

Cubs Take Over No. 2 Position

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Braves committed four errors in the first inning last night on the way to a 4-3 loss to Chicago that gave the Cubs undisputed possession of second place in the National League.

Drysdale bobbled Maury Wills' bases-loaded roller in the ninth inning and the Pittsburgh Pirates added two more runs for a 4-1 victory over the skidding Los Angeles Dodgers' ace.

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney stopped the first-place St. Louis Cardinals 5-0 with a five-hitter; San Francisco trimmed Philadelphia 4-1 and the New York Mets topped Houston 4-1 on rookie Kevin Collins' three-run ninth-inning homer.

The Cubs capitalized on two errors by Felipe Alou—on the same play—and one each by Marty Martinez and Felix Millan for a 3-0 first-inning lead at Atlanta.

Fifth-inning doubles by Al Spangler and Randy Hundley sent another Chicago run home and the Cubs weathered a late comeback by the Braves for the seventh victory in eight games.

Hank Aaron and Alou hit bases-empty homers for Atlanta before Phil Regan, the Cubs' relief ace, nailed the victory for starter Joe Niekro.

The Pirates broke a 1-1 tie at Los Angeles on Drysdale's second error in the ninth and Willie Stargell provided insurance with a two-run single.

Bill Mazeroski and Jerry May singled with one out and moved up one base apiece on Drysdale's wild pickoff attempt. First baseman Ron Fairly then fielded pinch hitter Manny Jimenez' grounder but failed to make a play after bluffing a throw home.

That filled the bases and set the stage for the decisive misplay by Drysdale, who has lost his last four decisions for a 12-10 season mark.

The Reds nursed a 1-0 lead until the eighth inning at St. Louis, when Leo Cardenas homered and an error by Julian Javier opened the gates for three more runs.

Maloney, 10-7, allowed five singles—three by Dal Maxvill—in boosting his career advantage over the Cardinals to 11-5.

Collins grounded into a force play with the bases loaded in the seventh, driving in New York's first run, and drilled his first major league homer following singles by Cleon Jones and Ed Kranepool in the ninth.

Green Bay Trying Soccer-Style Kicker

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the Green Bay Packers, the team that has everything, Fernado Souza might be the perfect gift.

Souza is a present from the Fall River, Mass., Astros of the American Soccer League, and he might be the latest soccer-style kicker to make the grade in pro football after an on-the-mark performance yesterday.

The 28-year-old center-forward kicked six field goals in 10 tries against the Packers' defense. He hit five of six from 37 yards and one of four from 42.

The defending National Football League and Super Bowl champions with an offense and defense that puts them again in the favorite's role this season are missing only a kicker since Don Chandler retired. And the Packers know what an important omission that can be.

With Paul Hornung doing the kicking, the Packers won their division title in 1960 and 1961 and Jerry Kramer helped them to the 1962 title with his kicking. But with Hornung suspended in 1963 and Kramer unable to repeat his fine year, the Packers lost out in 1963 and again in 1964 when Hornung returned and was unable to regain his form.

Then came Chandler, a big factor in Green Bay's sweep of the last three NFL titles.

Souza represents Green Bay's first try with a soccer kicker, but the success of Pete and Charley Gogolak is nothing to be laughed at. And Souza's kicking certainly had the Packers thinking seriously.

The Philadelphia Eagles, however probably had a few chuckles yesterday as possibly the first NFL team to be fingerprinted, photographed, questioned and vaccinated all in one day.

The occasion for the squad of 56, plus coaches, managers and reporters, was preparation for the Eagles trip to Mexico City for an exhibition against the Detroit Lions.

It was not known if the Lions already had undergone their day, but they had little to laugh about after learning that defensive end John Baker suffered a broken right forearm in a 13-9 loss Monday night to the Buffalo Bills of the American League.

Baker, a 10-year NFL veteran obtained this year from Pittsburgh, is expected to be out four to six weeks.

Quarterback took up most of the other pro football news as the Oakland Raiders of the AFL dropped veteran signal caller Charlie Green; Baltimore of the NFL sent Jeff Beaver, a 15th draft choice from North Carolina, to the taxi squad, and Los Angeles of the NFL aked waivers on former college stars Jimmy Raye of Michigan State and Billy Guy Anderson of Tulsa. Anderson was in his second season; Raye was trying out as a defensive back.

Quarterback Gary Davis of Vanderbilt called it quits with Cincinnati of the AFL because of a knee injury, but might try to come back in 1969.

Lee's Impressive Farewell To Class A Waterloo Club

Bill Lee, former Terra Linda High School and Southern Cal pitching standout, bid a fond and memorable farewell to Waterloo, Iowa, last week.

Lee was transferred to Winston-Salem of the Carolina A League, but before he left he got a starting shot with the Boston Red Sox farm team in the Midwestern League.

In that start he hurled a one-hit, 11-strikeout, 3-0 shutout, which may have been one reason for his transfer to the reputedly stronger league.

Ex-San Anselman John Boccabella upped his average for Tacoma, Wash., in the Pacific Coast AAA league to .277 after a .360 week with 9 hits in 25 at bats. He drove in five runs to up his RBI total to 18.

Nick Willard of Novato had a small slump at Kennewick, Wash., in the Northwest A League with only 3 hits in 19 at bats. His average stands at .278.

Young Ken Johnson, former Redwood standout from Larkspur, had a .286 week to revive from a slump, getting 4 hits in 14 at bats. He's scored a fat 25 runs for Johnson City, Tenn., a Class A New York Yankee farm club.

Orioles Drop 6½ Games Behind First-Place Tigers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Any fan knows that's no way to play baseball. The Baltimore Orioles know it, too.

Tony Oliva led off the sixth inning for Minnesota last night and struck out. But Oriole failed to handle the third strike and Oliva reached first. One out later, Bob Allison homered and Minnesota had a 5-0 lead.

The Orioles then fought back to trail by only 5-4 with one out in the ninth. Up stepped pinch hitter Larry Haney, who lashed the ball to right field and ended up on second base. But he failed to touch first and was out.

Ron Perranoski retired the next hitter and the second-place Orioles were beaten 5-4 to fall 6½ games behind the American League-leading Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers edged Cleveland 2-1 in 17 innings on Dick Tracewski's run-scoring single and led 5-2 after eight innings of the nightcap of the twi-night doubleheader when it was suspended by a 1 a.m. EDT, curfew. It will be completed tonight.

In other American League action, Boston trounced the Chicago White Sox 8-2 and California beat Washington 10-3 before losing to the Senators 1-0. The New York Yankees and Oakland were not scheduled.

Cesar Tovar scored the first two Minnesota runs and drove in the third. Frank Robinson and Bob Johnson drove in Baltimore runs in the sixth. The Orioles got another pair in the eighth on Boog Powell's RBI double and an error.

Tracewski's game-winning single was only his second hit in 33 at bats. It scored Willie Horton, who singled and moved to second when Bill Freehan was hit by a pitch.

Cleveland scored in the third inning on Tommy Harper's single, a sacrifice and Jose Cardenal's single. Detroit tied it in the eighth when Don Wert homered off starter Luis Tiant.

Detroit starter John Hiller broke the major league record of five consecutive strikeouts at the start of a game by fanning six. He didn't strike out any more in the eight innings he pitched.

The Tigers took a 5-2 lead in the suspended game by scoring four-runs in the sixth, two of them coming on Al Kaline's pinch double with the bases loaded.

Lou Klimchock's bases-loaded single brought in Cleveland's two runs. Detroit's other tally came on Norm Cash's 16th homer.

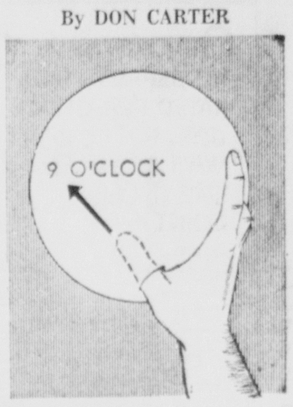
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



When the alleys are fast, and your ball isn't reaching the head pin right, you might adjust to a wider hook, or even a curve. This ball curves more readily and will reach the 1-3 pocket. Take your grip with the thumb at "9 o'clock" and stand more toward the center of the alley Slow your delivery for this style.

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 7, the 220th day of 1968 with 146 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full stage. The morning star is Saturn. The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1782 the Order of the Purple Heart was established by George Washington.

In 1947 the raft "Kon Tiki" landed on a reef in Tuanotu Archipelago after a 4,000 mile trip from Peru.

A thought for the day: Novelist D. H. Lawrence said, "When I wish I was rich, then I know I am ill."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. A Dutch Old Master Brushes Off His Opponents At The Table

Their style, which won them the world pair championship in 1966, is to bounce into a slam on the slightest excuse — and then find a way to make the slam.

GAVE HIM PAUSE

Declarer had to play low from the dummy, gratefully winning with the ten when East could produce only the six of hearts.

Now Kreyns cashed the ace of spades, ruffed a spade, returned to his hand with the ace of diamonds to ruff another spade, and led to the king of diamonds.

When the queen of diamonds dropped, declarer had several ways to make his slam. He could ruff his last spade with the ace of clubs, lead the jack of clubs to the king and give up a trump.

Or he could ruff with the jack of clubs, draw one round of trumps with the ace and then discard a heart on the jack of diamonds.

FINDS BETTER WAY

He ruffed his last spade with dummy's jack of clubs, drew one round of trumps with dummy's ace and then led the jack of diamonds.

It would be fatal to ruff low, for West would overruff and lead a heart for East to ruff.

Now declarer could lead the ten of clubs to force out the queen, and the rest of the tricks were his.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. You count eight points in high cards, two points for the doubletons, and one point extra for length in partner's bid suit, but the hand is not really worth 11 points. The two doubleton queens are not worth six points.

If partner cannot move after your raise to two hearts, you are unlikely to miss a game.

West Still Attracting Jobseekers

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Eastern city dwellers, disturbed by urban riots, pollution and related metropolitan problems, apparently find the spacious West as alluring economically as did their ancestors.

"Alaska still has a strong appeal as a frontier," says R. Scott Withers, field supervisor for Alaska's Employment Security Division. It's a holdover from the gold rush days."

Withers reports letters from out-of-state jobseekers have increased 20 per cent during the past two years. The increase is also typical of several of the sparsely populated Rocky Mountain states. The area, with an essentially rural economy, generally is attracting an influx of permanent residents along with tourists this summer.

NOT RIOTS ALONE

Not all the letters stem from disturbances, although a Nevada official figures 75 per cent of those to his state cite riots as the reason for writing.

Other factors include a change in climate, a desire for a simpler life and avoidance of smog and congestion. Some believe a given area is undergoing a boom or, as New Mexico's job service director, Paul Cruz, says, "want more opportunity that they believe is in the West."

Not all the Rocky Mountain states are having an increase in such letters. New Mexico finds things about normal. South Dakota receives few letters from urban centers. Utah and Arizona say there is no increase.

But taken altogether, Alaska and the Rocky Mountain section receive about 300,000 job inquiries a year from out-of-state residents.

RESPONSE VARIES

The response these jobseekers get varies from a form letter to personal replies, from a glad hand to some discouragement, from descriptions of the climate and opportunities to lists of job scales sometimes notably lower than their equivalents in the East.

Montana, Alaska, Nevada and Idaho report a significant rise in jobseekers. They face a problem, however; they find most of the hopefuls do not have the qualifications needed in these states.

Or, to put it another way, the states can't use most of those who express an interest in moving in.

Montana, for example, is receiving 500 letters a week from such workers as factory employees and from professional or specially skilled personnel. It needs cowboys, seasonal laborers and teachers, to name a few.

Alaska, with about 14,000 letters a year its employment service calls "fan mail," cites an oversupply of unskilled and semiskilled labor. "There has been a more or less constant demand for people in the professional and technical categories," says Withers.

"Everybody's heard of the high wages you can make in Alaska," Withers added. "People think they can come up here for a summer, grab one of those jobs, build up a nest egg and pull out. It has always been state policy to discourage this type of approach."

PASSAIC, N. J. (BW) — Sales of the Okonite Co. for the first six months of 1968 were $96,442,000, an increase of 78 per cent over sales of $54,066,000 for the comparable period of 1967.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Closed-End Funds Worthy Of Retirees' Attention

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. How safe are investment companies? Do they give more than 5 per cent interest? Are they good for retired people? — D. B., Y. G.

A. Closed-end investment companies, totaling about 25 and listed on major exchanges, trade like industrial corporations. Portfolios of some companies are broadly diversified while others — American-South African, Eurofund, Japan Fund, National Aviation and Petroleum Corp. — are identified with specific investment areas. Gross income is derived principally from dividends or interest and from capital gains on portfolio changes.

It is therefore to be expected that: (1) Profitability will approximately parallel the general market; (2) company expenses must be deducted from investment income before dividends are disbursed to shareholders, (3) and the latter will receive something less in yield than if they held the same securities individually.

Closed-end companies are considered safe long-term investments, their fortunes being linked, however, to their portfolio policies and management. In general, the dividends from investment income (the official definition of "dividend") run under 5 per cent and where strong growth situations are held the yield is likely to drop accordingly. If you consider the annual capital gains distribution as part of the dividend, some yields would reach 5 per cent and more. Nat. Aviation has paid a total of $5.73 from both sources so far in 1968. With the latter's shares trading around 42, the yield is 13.6 per cent.

Retired persons wishing to be free of investment details might appreciate the broad diversification offered by Dominick Fund, Lehman Corp., Madison Fund or Tri-Continental Corp., plus the managerial skills which the investment companies have demonstrated over the years.

Legislature Puts Reason Into Marijuana Law

The California Senate waited until what turned out to be the final night of its session, but it acted at last to put some reason into the state's laws on marijuana and dangerous drugs.

By 21-17 vote (with Marin's Sen. John F. McCarthy among the majority), the upper house of the Legislature finally passed the bill removing marijuana use and possession from the automatic felony category. The measure now reposes on the governor's desk, awaiting to be either (a) signed by whomever is acting governor at the moment, (b) possibly vetoed, or (c) become law without the governor's signature in 10 days after passage (Aug. 15).

The bill, by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, gives the judge jurisdiction over whether a marijuana charge (other than sale) is to be considered a felony or misdemeanor. It also puts dangerous drugs such as methedrine and LSD in the same category.

ALTHOUGH IT WAS attacked by its opponents as weakening the drug laws, the measure instead puts some equity in them. Previously, marijuana use or possession was an automatic felony, while use or possession of other dangerous drugs was merely a misdemeanor. This dated back to 1961, when the Legislature went on a "tough drug law" rampage but failed to apply it uniformly.

Some such change to make the punishment fit the crime in the case of marijuana was advocated editorially by the Independent-Journal last Aug. 10 — nearly a year before the bill finally cleared the second house of the Legislature.

Passage of the bill is the more gratifying since it had once been thought dead in the Senate. Premature obsequies were pronounced for it July 11 when it lacked the necessary seven votes to be reported out by the Senate Judiciary Committee. But its backers tried again and made it.

The close vote in the Senate, and the bill's near-death in committee there, were in contrast to its easy passage of the Assembly by 50 to 25 vote way back in April.

The District Attorneys' Association of California and California Peace Officers Association, both of which supported the bill, do not regard it as weakening the law against marijuana. On the contrary, they expect it to result in an increase in convictions.

THE PENALTY of state prison sentence for use or possession of a marijuana cigarette — mandatory on second offense under the old law — has caused judges and juries to hesitate to convict. It has caused district attorneys to prosecute for the misdemeanor offense of being present where marijuana is used, even when they might have been able to prove possession or use. For district attorneys, too, are human, and do not like to send young people of no visible criminal tendency to state prison.

Thus, it has been a case of a "strong" law actually weakening enforcement and breeding disrespect for law.

There is some doubt whether Gov. Ronald Reagan, who has made tough law enforcement the principal motif of his recent speeches, will sign the bill. However, we can hope that he will at least not veto it, allowing it to become law without his signature — unless some substitute governor signs it in the meantime, the matter of who's in charge in Sacramento being a sort of day-to-day thing right now.

Bi-Partisan Effort Clears Way For Major New Jobs Program

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Democrats and Republicans have co-operated during the 1968 session of the Legislature to put together a bi-partisan job development and training program which is nearing fruition as a "landmark" program.

It is the product of some 18 months of co-operative effort among the Job Training and Placement Council, the Legislature, the administration, and private business.

Under leadership of Lt. Gov. Robert Finch, the program is designed to focus the total resources of the community on the problem of job development and training in so-called economically disadvantaged areas.

The goal is to make capital and management assistance available for economic development of these areas; assure that training is avialbale for people so jobs may be filled adequately; make available tax incentives for businesses to hire the disadvantaged; provide incentive for financial institutions to participate in the program through placement of state surplus money in banks, and tighten up laws against discrimination in apprenticeship program.

THE PROGRAM provides for creation of a new Department of Human Resources Development, which will be expected to handle the full range of services necessary to employment.

This new department, which has been recommended by Gov. Ronald Reagan, would include a new separate division of job training and development.

The program has been handled in the Legislature by several assemblymen, in a series of bi-partisan bills.

FOR THE CREATION of California non-profit job development corporations, AB 109, by Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, has been passed, providing a million dollars for loans to regional corporations.

AB 1463, by Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, creates the new department of human resources dvelopment. AB 1777, by Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, allows the state's pooled money investment board to deposit in banks which make high risk loans in urban poverty areas.

For small business assistance, there is a two-year pilot program in AB 1046, also by Unruh. Technical assistance would be provided in disadvantaged urban areas.

A tax incentive for job training, in the form of income tax deductions is contained in AB 1966, by John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, with protection guaranteed by a requirement for certification from the state's health and welfare agency.

Finally, the elimination of discrimination in apprenticeship programs is provided for in AB 1464, by Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles.

THIS BI-PARTISAN program could be one of the outstanding achievements of the 1968 Legislature, provided the purposes are carried out, and some definite results are shown on the effectiveness of the legislation.

On the other hand, the program could turn out to be a major flop of the administration if it allowed to become merely a paper program resulting in the creation of merely another big bureaucracy.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Dole For Hippies Incenses Reader

To say that I am incensed after reading the story in last night's I-J about the increasing number of hippies on welfare in Marin is the understatement of the year. I am sure my reaction must be shared by many.

Public assistance to unfortunate persons for many good and legitimate reasons, no one in their right mind and with any feelings for their fellow human beings would begrudge.

I am in my late 70s, but I work every day at a worthwhile occupation, to supplement my small income, so I can continue to live in my own home in Marin County.

Our good supervisors seem to be very ingenuous (sic) in thinking up ways to pass laws about many things they believe in. Let's see what they can devise to solve this real problem.

Women's League Against Missiles

You are to be commended for your editorial on the missile site controversy on July 30. It is important to point up as you did the irony of our Defense Department's seeking sites for its nuclear tipped missiles while at the same time the U.S. and U.S.S.R. are signing the non-proliferation treaty. The danger of an increased spiralling of an arms race leading to a world holocaust is very real.

I am glad that a number of organizations and city councils have already registered their opposition to the ABM sites, and to the list of organizations should be added the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. The Marin Branch of the WILPF is absolutely opposed to the whole ABM system. . . .

Dzu Trial Unmasks Saigon Regime

The Saigon trial of Dzu, runner-up in the last "election," unmasks for the umpteenth time the fraud of our contention that the South Vietnamese government is worth defending. Our Saigon puppets are not only traitors to their own people plus parasites on our wealth and man power, but are frantically crushing out all political resistance to an indefinite prolongation of the war. . . .

Our continuing support of unrepresentative corrupt little dictators only prolongs the war, exacerbates our losses in man and money, increases the contempt for us in most of the rest of the world, and makes more difficult the eventual reconstruction of Vietnam. There is no rational alternative to prompt disengagement. Our continued presence in Vietnam simply worsens an already intolerable situation. We can cut our losses silently, admit our error, and begin to move out.

Missile Base Promotes War

I would like Mr. Tom Storer and Mr. Warren know that I agree with the position that they took in the relocation of the antimissile base. Not only does the admission of the missile base in Marin County create a danger, it also accepts the position that the residents of Marin County are for the expansion of the military and the continuation of a senseless war. Each of us must realize that further armament is not the course to follow and can only lead ot the inevitable destruction of our great country and we as its people.

The residents of Marin County must speak out against those . . . who will readily accept the missile base because the almighty dollar is more important than the life of his fellow man.

What Is Candid About Candidates?

Having in recent days observed candidates for the presidency take hopelessly conflicting positions on current political issues and even on the question as to whether they are or are not candidates, I wondered what the word "candid" was doing in the word "candidate." This led me to the dictionary, which says that "candidate" derives from the words "candidatus," meaning the white toga worn by office-seekers in ancient Rome. Needless to say, I felt the word book with my mind more aboggle than before.

One Last Word On 'Recall Reagan'

Before the Recall Reagan campaign breathes its last, I must retort to a letter which I read this evening (Aug. 2) in the I-J, and set the record straight once and for all. The letter was written by Katherine Bender in answer to one of Nan Hepps which followed one other by Miss Bender and one other by Mrs. Hepp. This correspondence was replete with inaccuracies, distortions, misunderstandings and downright untruths.

To the best of my knowledge, and I too was involved in the recall campaign, this movement was most definitely and unequivocally not sponsored, backed, supported or helped by the Peace and Freedom Party. Certain petition carriers and workers are indeed members of the Peace and Freedom Party, but a greater number are Democrats and Republicans and independents.

In truth, the recall campaign was not affiliated with any political party or organization. Perhaps one reason why it failed is that it was strictly run by a group of amateurs whose only purpose was to try to reestablish as soon as possible competent leadership in California.

A COMPUTER executive tells about a St. Louis resident who's been receiving monthly bills for $0.00 from some auto insurance company (which, of course, had installed a rival manufacturer's computer system). GOP Tastes Presidential Victory, But Outlook In Congress Differs MIAMI BEACH — Bursting with self-confidence, the Republicans in convention assembled are sure this is the year of the Grand Old Party. Not since 1952 have they been so confident of winning in November.

They look at the disarray in the Democratic party, at the hopeful polls, at the deep discontents in the country and they can almost taste the victory little more than three months ahead. While in public they are somewhat less than candid, in private they do not conceal their belief that this is one of those years when in a belligerent mood the voters mean to vote the ins out and the outs in.

It happened in 1920 when people were fed up with wars and leagues for peace and they put a handsome senator named Warren G. Harding in the White House. Again in 1952, with the festering wound of the unwinnable Korean War, they voted overwhelmingly for Dwight D. Eisenhower, a national hero with a fatherly appeal that seemed a cure for the nation's unease. Substitute Vietnam for Korea — the wound is deeper and more lacerating — add the revolt in the ghettos and crime in the streets and the arithmetic, in the Republican view, adds up to the oldest political formula, "Turn the rascals out."

BUT, EVEN IF this rosy confidence should be justified in November, the future of the party as an instrument to govern the country in a time of great travail is still in question. For only eight years out of the last 36, and then thanks to the national hero, have the Republicans held the presidency.

The record in Congress is for the GOP even more disconcerting. In 1946 the Republicans won control of both houses. With Harry Truman's surprise victory in 1948 they lost the Senate and the House to the Democrats. The record under Eisenhower is equally dismaying. He brought in with him narrow majorities which melted away two years later. This means that for only four years out of 36 has the GOP had the Congress, and without control of the legislative branch of government a President is more often than not confronted with stalemate.

Looking at their party dispassionatley, more thoughtful Republicans see a fundamental lack responsible for this bleak record. That is the failure to attract candidates at the bottom level who would ultimatey move up the political ladder to contest for seats in Congress.

THE HABIT of opposition has long been a Republican handicap. It dates from the end of the Herbert Hoover era, when the small Republican fraction in Congress dug in to resist the reforms of the New Deal. Certain leaders go back, thanks to the seniority system and safe conservative districts returning them year after year, to that era. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois was first elected to Congress in 1934 and named minority whip in 1943. Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen, minority leader in the Senate, went to the House two years prior to Arends' election and, although he dropped out prior to running for a Senate seat in 1950, his record, with aberrations when he helped a Democratic president, has been one of opposition to broad reforms.

Whatever the reason, and it could be the consistent backward look of the Republican miority in House and Senate, the GOP has reason to be concerned over the latest Gallup poll on Congress. This showed last month Republicans getting only 42 per cent of the congressional vote to 58 per cent for the Democrats. That figure parallels the same percentage division in the Johnson landslide of '64. Outside the South, where the Democrats have a 70 per cent lead, the split is 55 to 45 which means, if the poll is valid, very large Democratic gains.

Republicans Plan Further Cuts In Foreign Aid

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

MIAMI BEACH — Republican lawmakers at the GOP National Convention here are planning further cuts in President Johnson's foreign aid program, which has already been trimmed to an all-time record low.

Indications are that more cuts will be made when Congress goes back to work in September. The $1.9 billion authorized may shrink to as little as $1.5 billion when Congress puts up funds to finance the aid projects.

A House Appropriations subcommittee, headed by Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., a veteran whittler on aid requests, is expected to neatly halve the Johnson aid program.

Timing of the final Senate vote on the $1.9 billion authorization bill did not help the foreign aid cause. The 46-to-28 Senate vote came last Wednesday — the day President Johnson "froze" $91 million which Congress had voted for school districts across the nation.

The school aid would have helped districts which educate large number of children attracted by military installations and other government activities. The President's "freeze" held aid to those districts to 80 per cent of the outlay voted by Congress.

Some GOP lawmakers are saying here that foreign aid is still too high if the government can only make good on 80 per cent of its school-aid commitments to help children inside the United States. On the same theory the Senate tried unsuccessfully to withhold carry-over foreign aid funds until the school aid funds were released.

A WALLACE GHOST — George C. Wallace, the third-party candidate who is nobody's Republican, is nevertheless helping to shape GOP campaign plans which are being developed here.

The former Alabama governor is much discussed at private functions in this convention city. Delegates from all parts of the nation are saying that the Wallace campaign is already hurting the two major parties.

As a consequence, Wallace and his third-party threat are influencing both national and congressional GOP campaign strategies.

No one is really predicting that Wallace will get enough electoral votes to deny either major party candidate the 270 electoral votes required for election. It is, however, the sort of possibility that a prudent professional politician cannot afford to ignore.

In an election conducted by the House, each state delegation would have a single vote. That means congressional campaigners must make a special effort to win control of at least 26 state delegations in the House.

Democrats presently control 29 House delegations, Republicans 18, and three are equally divided. GOP campaigners are optimistic about their congressional prospects, however, and are predicting a net gain of as many as 40 House seats. They must aim to capture a majority in House delegations as well as win control of the House itself.

Solution To All Our Problems: Let World Elect President

WASHINGTON—Everywhere I went in Europe this summer they asked the same question: "Who's going to be the next President of the United States?" Americans don't realize it, but Europeans feel they have as much stake in the outcome of our presidential elections as we do, and the results are watched with as much trepidation in Rome, Italy, as they are in Rome, New York.

This worldwide concern over who the next United States President will be has reached such enormous proportions that I believe there is only one solution to the problem, and that is that it's time America opened up the presidential elections to everyone.

Any citizen of any country, who is over 21 years of age, should be permitted to vote for the President of the United States. In this way the next President would be chosen on the basis of his popularity throughout the world, instead of just the 50 states.

THE ADVANTAGES of holding such an election would far outweigh the costs of installing voting booths in such far-off places as Sierra Leone and Borneo. For one thing, if the President of the United States is elected globally he would have a worldwide mandate from the people and no one could complain that the President of the United States is just representing the interests of his own country.

Since everyone would have a say about the next U.S. President, the people of other nations would be obligated to support him, and back him in the great decisions that affect them. It is my belief that if we open up the elections to everyone on the globe, the attacks on the dollar will cease, the demonstrations against American embassies will come to a halt, and the U.S. Sixth Fleet will be welcome in every port in the world.

I KNOW there are nit pickers who will say the idea is impracticable. They'll point out that it will be very costly for presidential candidates to campaign in every part of the world, and there is always the language barrier that has to be considered when you open American elections to outside countries.

But this is not a serious objection. For four years now Richard Nixon has been traveling all over the world running for President of the United States and it hasn't hurt him. With satellite-television, the other candidates could get over their message with subtitles. There would be no difficulty for an American political campaign to be adapted to a global affair.

The critics will say that people in many parts of the world are not sufficiently informed to vote for an American President, but this, of course, is a canard.

Everyone knows about American politics and even in the Soviet Union, where I just came from, the Russians who refused to express opinons about their own government expressed strong opinions about ours.

The only way we can get the rest of the world to support the United States it to permit them to choose our President. Why should Americans take the responsibility for electing Nixon, Rockefeller, Reagan, Humphrey or McCarthy when everyone else is going to criticize our choice anyway?

Marin City's Access Plea Sparks Study

The request came after a group from Marin City objected that a new road was not planned until the 1974 fiscal year.

The group — which included Donald O. Stutsman, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority and redevelopment agency, and James Quiett, chairman of the county human rights commission — said the road was vital to further residential development and to improvement of the social climate of the predominantly Negro community.

ONE WAY

The road, tentatively planned to connect the community with Tamalpais Valley, was not to have been started until 1973-74 under the county's six-year capital projects program. Marin City is only reached now by car from Sausalito or Highway 101.

The supervisors, however, appeared willing to move up the project provided other work in the capital improvement budget could be juggled to satisfaction.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said that the public works department's rough estimate of $300,000 as the county's share of the road might be spread over three years, beginning in fiscal 1970.

COST SHARING

It is presumed landowners in the area and California Development Corp., Marin City developers, will share in the cost.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer suggested construction of a temporary access over the ridge to Tamalpais Valley until an improved road could be put in.

Quiett asked the board to "do all you can to speed this."

"I live in Marin City and I've always felt boxed in," he said. "This is a strong feeling in Marin City today and people, expecially the young feel they are not part of the general population of the county."

Stutsman said another access would increase home sales and thus broaden the community's low tax base.

The capital improvements program was up for review by the supervisors yesterday for revisions made necessary by changes in the county budget for the current fiscal year.

ROAD PRIORITIES

Gnoss asked that realignment and reconstruction of Atherton Avenue from Olive Avenue to Black Point be moved up a year to 1972-73 and that widening of Novato Boulevard from Sutro Avenue to Stafford Lake — listed in the budget but not assigned a priority — be scheduled for 1971-72.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said an attempt would be made to rearrange other projects to comply with the Gnoss request.

Widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in the Samuel P. Taylor State Park vicinity was sought by Storer earlier than 1971-72. He was told, however, that the public works department planned to await action on Highway 17 before making a final decision on this project.

Supervisors Frown On Storer Library Plea

Marin Supervisor Thomas T. Storer scrapped plans yesterday to use county libraries to meet with residents of his district when his colleagues politely, but firmly, objected.

Storer said he wanted to use branch libraries in Stinson Beach, Point Reyes Station, Inverness and Bolinas for two hours each month. He said an earlier experiment with office hours in West Marin had failed.

However, Supervisors William A. Gnoss, John F. McInnis and Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen were worried about the seeming mixture of politics and library books.

"This is not a very big thing," Storer pleaded. "It's not a bad thing. I'm having difficulty communicating with the people. They're spread all over."

He sternly denied he sought to use meetings to campaign for re-election in November. Storer faces a runoff with Louis H. (Bud) Baar, a San Rafael councilman.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr moved to grant Storer's request but no vote was taken. Storer accepted advice to seek use of community centers for his West Marin meetings.

Guns Argument For Radio Panel

The question of whether Marin's gun registration ordinance should be repealed or put to the voters on the November ballot will be debated at 9 a.m. tomorrow on radio station KTIM's "Sounding Board."

The panel will include Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney; Sausalito City Councilman Alexander Imlay; Eugene A. Lockton, member of the Tamalpais Revolver Club, and Donald Basque and James Marsico, members of the gun control legislation advisory committee to the Novato City Council.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast at 10:10 a.m. Sunday.

County Allots Its Share For Safety In Greenbrae

The board of supervisors voted $7,500 from reserves yesterday toward elimination of a traffic hazard on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Greenbrae.

The funds represent one-fourth of the cost of extending a sidewalk and installing a guard rail along the north side of the boulevard from Manor Road east to Eliseo Drive.

Another 25 per cent of the cost would be requested of Kentfield School District, with an estimated 1,200 homeowners paying the rest of the $30,000 cost of the work.

But plans to collect these funds hit a snag yesterday. Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said assessment district could not be formed for property owners, as planned, because the levy per property for the homeowners' share would not reach the legal minimum of $25.

The supervisors urged the Greenbrae Property Owners Association to work out means to collect an estimated $12.50 from each homeowner as its share of the project, while a formal request is made of the Kentfield school board for $7,500 to match the supervisors' outlay.

The stretch of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard through Greenbrae has been the scene of three pedestrian traffic deaths in three years.

Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

TAXES — Voted to write Marin legislators in Sacramento on scheduling a public hearing in Marin to find out why no property tax relief has been approved.

AMBULANCE — Ratified an interim agreement for emergency ambulance service to Novato and asked for bid specifications on two-zone service for the remainder of the county, excluding West Marin.

LIGHTS — Approved, with Thomas T. Storer dissenting and Peter H. Behr abstaining, award of a $21,991 contract to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for Hall of Justice parking lot lights. The board argued over costs and aesthetics of the PG&E system against one proposed in a bid by a private contractor.

WELFARE — Instructed representatives of the Public Social Services Department to determine whether some persons on general relief could obtain jobs in apple orchards in Sonoma County. Supervisor William A. Gnoss said pickers were needed badly.

STUDY — Voted $330 as the county share of a $1,650 study of sewage disposal around the Marin County Airport in Novato with an eye toward further residential development of the area.

DEER PARK — Postponed for two weeks further consideration of development of Deer Park in Fairfax to await results of a city-county study commission survey on traffic problems.

RETIREMENT — Amended bylaws of the county employees retirement board permitting accumulation of retirement credits and benefits for certain part-time employees.

PERSONNEL — Hired John Parker, a health education consultant with the Illinois department of public health, at $10,440 a year and Robert W. Burke as senior psychiatrist in the community mental health services department for 20 hours per week at a monthly salary of $922.50.

PARKS — Renewed an agreement with the National Park Service for minor county maintenance of roads at the Point Reyes National Seashore and extending it to include the Muir Woods National Monument.

ELDERLY — Voted a total of $12,526 toward recreation programs for the aged in Fairfax, Terra Linda and Marinwood. The money was in the budget of the parks and recreation department.

EEL — Named Jerome B. Gilbert, general manager of the North Marin County Water District, to the executive committee of the Eel River Association.

HEAD START — Renewed a contract with Dr. Albert C. Goldberg of Terra Linda, medical-dental consultant to the Head Start program, at a maximum fee of $120 for three months.

CHANGES — Said the Marin Hospital District, not the county, should pay $2,337 to modernize an oxygen warning system in Marin General Hospital, even though the work is required because of work changes at the adjacent Community Mental Health Center, being built by the county.

BLIND — Approved the request of Leslie Grant of San Rafael to urge free transportation for sightless nonresidents on the municipal railway buses in San Francisco.

Faircloth Pleads Innocent On Drug

Ronald T. Faircloth, 24, of 818-A College Ave., Kentfield, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to two charges of selling and one charge of possessing marijuana.

Preliminary hearing on the charges, once dismissed in Marin Superior Court because of a procedural error in municipal court, was scheduled for Sept. 5 in municipal court.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Superior Court dismissed the charges July 29 because Judge Peter Allen Smith of Municipal Court had failed to award Faircloth a delay of his preliminary hearing when the accused was unable to locate a witness.

Airport Booming In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — All the domestic airines in the country carried 12.7 million passengers annually 20 years ago, yet San Francisco International Airport alone logged some 13.4 million during fiscal 1967-68.

Citing this as a dramatic example of the growth of air traffic, authorities reported an 18.7 per cent passenger increase at San Francisco. The total the year before had been 11.3 million.

Span Employees Wrestle Driver

The Califonnia Highway Patrol took custody of Lowell Thomas Akins, 36, of Hayward, at 5:20 p.m. and sent him to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

A radio bulleting for Akins was issued after medical advice was received warning he might try to jump from the bridge. A toll gate attendant and tow truck driver spotted Akins' car in traffic, and subdued him after a struggle and turned him over to the Highway Patrol.

Sailboat Looted

Rudder, centerboard and sails were taken from a 13-foot sailboat moored at the San Francisco Yatch Club dock sometime between 5 p.m. Monday and 10 a.m. yesterday, Belvedere police reported. The boat is owned by Robb Jordan of 8 West Shore Road, police said.

Board Seeks Experts' Public Health Study

The County of Marin has concluded in a two-month study that the public health department needs considerable streamlining.

The board of supervisors sought help yesterday in finding ways to get the job done.

Administrative Analyst Timothy M. Jackson, a member of County Administrator Alan Bruce's staff, questioned the efficiency of the department in an 18-page report released in June.

The department has 56 employees and a budget this fiscal year of $685,544, of which about 26 per cent is supported by state and federal aid.

WHO'S TO STUDY?

Yesterday, the supervisors looked outside county government for an organization willing to review public health operations toward possible revisions.

Dr. Michael Scholl, county medical director, reported that the Marin Medical Society was uneasy about taking the job because "they didn't want to do a grand jury-type thing." The medical society had been the choice of the administrator's office.

Donald Sower, executive director of the society, said today the group also was concerned that the county had not spelled out precisely the goals of such a review.

With that avenue closed, the supervisors voted to ask Marin's newly formed Comprehensive Health Planning Council whether it would accept the job. A report is expected in two weeks.

TIGHTER RULES

In its report, the administrator's office recommended that the supervisors instruct the public health department to tighten eligibility requirements for services and cease treatment of persons covered by Medi-Cal.

Eligibility criteria should follow those used by Scholl's medical department, which requires that nonemergency patients be California residents for three years and Marin residents a year and show proof of low income, the report said.

Jackson reported there was little or no investigation of family income or residency status in the conduct of several public health programs.

Family planning, communicable disease control, public health nursing and child care are some of the programs operated by the department.

EXTRA COSTS

Treatment of Medi-Cal patients by the department meant twice as much expense to the county because Marin shares in the cost of local Medi-Cal, the study concluded.

In response to a question yesterday by Supervisor Peter H. Behr, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, director of the public health department, said Medi-Cal patients represent about 9.5 per cent of an estimated 3,600 persons attending child health conferences each year and about 12.2 per cent of an estimated 1,400 mothers attending family planning clinics.

In his report Jackson also recommended further study to determine whether the public health department was meeting the needs of the public with modern programs and whether state and local agencies were adjusting eligibility criteria to meet the recent influx of new services.

In addition, it was requested that an outside agency selected by the supervisors study possible merger of services provided by the medical and public health departments of possible transferral of some of the programs to private agencies under county contract.

Alto Board Will Study Takeover

Alto Sanitary District board has agreed to investigate having the Marin Municipal Water District assume operations of the sewer district.

Directors endorsed in principle a recommendation contained in the Brown and Caldwell report on county sewer needs that the water district take over the sewage disposal operations for all of Southern Marin. The action came at the board's meeting Monday night.

Similar action was taken July 29 by the Homestead Valley Sanitary District board.

An alternative recommendation of the Brown and Caldwell report that a Southern Marin sanitary district be established to handle sewage disposal was not endorsed by either Alto or Homestead Valley sanitary boards.

Directors appointed Director Carl O. Heynen Jr. to contact the water district and the county counsel and to report on the ramifications of such a move in terms of policies and costs to Alto district residents. Heynen will report to the board on Sept. 9 unless the board calls a special meeting on the matter prior to that date.

The Sept. 9 meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire station, 27 Shell Road.

Sanitary Board Sets Annex Meet

The Corte Madera Sanitary District Board last night tentatively scheduled a Sept. 10 meeting with property owners of an approximately 30-acre parcel on Paradise Drive being considered for annexation.

The session, which would be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Corte Madera Town Council chambers, would be an informational meeting on merits of the annexation.

Board officials said about 100 lots are involved. The area extends southeast of the Uplands Apartments on Paradise Drive and currently uses septic tanks.

The board also discussed the proposed absorbing of the private sanitary system operated by the S and L subdivision in the 5700 block of Paradise Drive, but no action was taken.

Youth Found Under Car In Sausalito

An incoherent, unidentified youth was found with his head jammed between the wheel and fender of a Volkswagen parked at 3 Lincoln Drive at 4:30 a.m. today Sausalito police said.

He was rushed to Marin General Hospital where he was reported in semi-conscious and serious condition. It was ascertained he has no fractures or concussions.

Chief Edward S. Kreins said "obviously someone had placed him in the position we found him. There were marks on his wrists as if he had been tied for several days and his hair had been cut up badly."

Chief Kriens described the youth as about 16 to 20 years of age, five feet, 10 inches tall, 130 pounds with brown hair.

Two Ballot Proposals Lack 'No' Arguments

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — No arguments against two constitutional amendments to appear on the November ballot have been filed, the secretary of state's office said today in an invitation to voters to file such arguments.

The two are Proposition 6, relating to gross premium taxes on insurance companies, and Proposition 8, relating to apportionment of local sales and use taxes. Both were proposed by the Legislature.

Negative arguments must be filed with the secretary of state in Sacramento by 5 p.m. Aug. 15. No argument may contain more than 500 words, and no more than three signatures may appear with any argument. The secretary of state then will select the argument to be sent to all voters.

Proposition 6 would exclude from the gross premium tax on insurance companies premiums on contracts providing retirement benefits for persons employed by public shcools, public educational institutions of collegiate grade, or school or nonprofit organizations engaged in scientific research.

Proposition 8 would authorize counties and cities to contract to apportion between themselves revenues from sales and use taxes, provided the electors of each approved the contract by a majority vote.

Napal And Algeria Exchange Diplomacy

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Nepal and Algeria have decided to exchange diplomatic representation at ambassadorial level, the foreign ministry announced here.

Art Group Wants Key Statue Back

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A statue of Francis Scott Key, composer of the national anthem, now sits unseen in a warehouse, but the Art Commission is trying to get it back to Golden Gate Park.

The ornate limestone statue was removed in 1967 to make room for a new $1.5 million hall at the California Academy of Sciences.

Commission secretary Martin Sniper said yesterday the academy had promised to restore the statue, but now maintained it would cost around $36,000 to haul it back and renovate its foundations.

Teamster Leaders Endorse New Construction Offer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Tentative agreement was announced yesterday on a contract covering 9,000 building material drivers, apparently averting a strike in Northern California's heavy construction industry.

Spokesmen for the Teamsters Union said the proposed three-year pact would be recommended. It will be presented to union officials Friday prior to submission to union members for a vote.

The employer associations were the Association General Contractors, Engineering and Grading Contractors and California Contractors Council.

When the teamster contract is ratified agreement will have been reached with all eight unions representing 100,000 workers in Northern California's heavy construction industry.

Novato Trustees Hire 14 Teachers

Bonnie Cotton at $6,312 and Ralph Price at $9,738 for high school; Hale Darby at $6,450, Diana Goebel at $7,698, Rodney Leslie at $9,366, Robert Moody at $10,110, Janice Payne at $8,622 and Lambert Webber at $7,572 for junior high school; and Christina Back at $6,624, Suzanne Clark at $7,350, Janet Coxon at $6,312, Ruth Elayne Nix at $7,872, Charlotte Nutt at $6,936 and Gretchen Ostrom at $6,900 for elementary school.

Motorist Scraped As His Car Rolls Over

John Raymond McBain, 23, of 1524 Fourth Street, Apt. 3, San Rafael, escaped with scrapes Monday morning when his car overturned on the Paradise Drive off-ramp from Highway 101 in Corte Madera.

McBain was treated at Marin General Hospital for scrapes on the forehead and left hand. The California Highway Patrol said he made a sharp turn for the off-ramp in commute traffic at 7:50 a.m. when his car overturned and hit a road sign.

MAKE US PROVE THAT ALL PRESCRIPTION PRICES ARE NOT THE SAME. . . .

State code prohibits a druggist from advertising prescription prices! The only way you can find out if you are paying too much is to shop and compare prices!

Is Quality The Same?

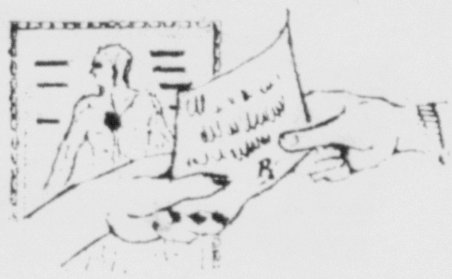
Absolutely! Every pharmacist is required by law to fill a prescription exactly as specified by the doctor. No substitution of ingredients or quality of ingredients is tolerated and this is enforced under strict penalty of the law.

Is The Pharmacist Qualified?

Absolutely! Every pharmacist is required by law to undergo 6 years of rigorous training and then pass exacting qualifying examinations before he is permitted to fill your prescription. He must be careful, precise and professionally competent.

Then Why Do Prices Vary?

For the same reason they do in almost any business! Store policy, cost of overhead, volume purchasing . . . these are the major reasons. Some charge more because they sell less. (Perhaps that's why they sell less!) Some because of high overhead cost. (Again, probably because they sell less!) Some even build a reputation by charging more. (Strange in view of the fact that there is no difference in quality!) Some build a reputation for charging less but they really don't. (Too many prescription buyers just take the price for granted!) Some do sell for less but prescription prices cannot be advertised. (It's up to you to find out!)



How To Buy A Prescription

It's really one of the easiest things to shop because you are absolutely assured of quality and that leaves price the one and only difference between quotes. You have every right to take your prescription to a pharmacy and ask him to quote his price. You don't have to have it filled until you are satisfied. If you have a standing prescription, your doctor will gladly provide you with another one. This is as good as the original. Don't "lock" yourself in . . . shop and compare!
